District 34 voters will have no say

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter
Voters in Antioch School District 34, which includes Antioch Lower Grade, Antioch Upper Grade, Oakland, and Petty, will not have a say in the decision regarding the Lake Villa Unit School District. The question of the formation of the new district, which will impact District 34 to the tune of nearly $5 million, will be addressed by voters in Districts 117 (Antioch Community High School), 24 (Millburn), 41 (Lake Villa), and 127 (Grayslake High School). While it is believed all the voters in District 34 are included in District 117 and will be able to vote as members of the high school district, they will not be able to vote as District 34 members as well. This is critical because the school code requires majority approval of the new unit district in each individual district, not a simple majority of the total. Since over 50 percent of the students at Antioch Community See DIST. 34 page A10

Another child hit waiting for school bus

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter
Once again, a student waiting for a school bus was injured by an automobile early Tuesday morning. Fortunately, the young girl received only minor injuries. This is the second accident in less than a month involving a student in Antioch. Laura Weber, age 11, was struck by a car as she was attempting to get on the early morning District 34 bus on the corner of Tallman and Claridan in the Felter's Subdivision. Andrew Faltynek side-swiped

Weber when he passed the school bus. "The bus was stopped with the lights on and the flag out," said Ann Weber, Laura's mother. "All of a sudden he comes whipping out. He hit my daughter on her side and knocked her to the ground." The fifth-grader received cuts and bruises, tearing the skin from her foot. "This isn't just a scrape, a thick layer of skin was torn," said Ann Weber. Earlier last month, Richard Ward, a first grader at St. Peter School was fatally injured while crossing Lake Avenue to get on a bus. That accident occurred during a heavy fog. Weber was taken to St. Therese Hospital and released. "She is feeling okay," said Ann. "She's had friends over today." Ann said, however, her daughter will be staying home from school for at least another day. "Her foot is hurting her." While the accident that killed Richard Ward was not the fault of the driver, the Weber accident appears to be a direct result of the failure of Faltynek to follow the rules of the road concerning school buses. If convicted of illegally passing a stopped school bus, Faltynek's driving privileges will be suspended for 30 days. District 34 Superintendent Dr. Daniel Burke reminds drivers, "Please always drive with extreme caution during the school year between the hours of 7 and 9 a.m. and 3 to 4 p.m." The accident occurred in front of Mrs. Weber who still seemed stunned by the accident later in the evening. "I really don't know if it has caught up with me yet," she said.

Many show up to help Stillson celebrate 90 years

Mel and Goldie Stillson

Over 100 people were on hand to celebrate the 90th birthday of Melvin Stillson of Antioch. The open house, which was held last weekend, included former students, friends, and colleagues of Stillson. Stillson was a school teacher and retired from Antioch Community High School in 1970 where he taught Industrial Arts for 36 years. Prior to coming to Antioch, Stillson taught in South Dakota for six years. "It was wonderful," said Stillson's wife, Goldie. "There was way over 100 people here. So many were teachers and former students." Stillson's daughter, Dee Hauser, made a special cake in honor of the event. Apparently the cake was decorated with hammers and other tools, highlighting Stillson's career. "There was much reminiscing of the good old high school days; of parties, proms, floats for homecoming, dances, sports, and other happenings," said Goldie. "He also received many cards and phone calls." Out of state guests included Stillson's son Melfred and wife Dolores of Sun City, Arizona; Virginia Shepherdson of Sioux Falls, South Dakota; and June and Gilbert Barnhill of Minneapolis, Minnesota. On Sunday, Feb. 5 the celebration continued. Family members held a private party which numbered over 30.

Sequoit Pride donates $17,500 to school

Sequoit Pride is the primary Antioch Community High School booster organization. After a meeting of the executive board, the organization reported donations amounting to $17,500 were made to various academic, athletic and activities programs.

The ACHS mathematics department will see some enhancements to instruction, as four view screen calculators, 30 classroom graphing calculators and two complete Macintosh computers and projection panels were approved ($9,000 total). Other donations included an automatic kiln for the fine arts department ($1,900), a color printer for the business education class ($500), and up to $1,500 for the English department to build paperback libraries, as well as purchase various computer multimedia resources.

The science department has embarked into the realm of DNA technology, specifically extracting "real" DNA from live cells and using restriction enzymes to make DNA fingerprints. This was done using borrowed equipment from the Univ. of Ill. The department will now own its own Hexa-Gel Electrophoresis and have the complete set-up for its own DNA testing—the total cost of this equipment is $2,500.

Other donations included 50 bags of Turface and 90 tons of Diamond Mix for the athletic department to improve the playing conditions of school and community ball fields ($1,100). The academic team will receive new "Scholastic Bowl" scoring equipment ($500), and the Spanish Club obtained monies to help offset activity expenditures ($500).

School closes due to flu outbreak

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

St. Peter School was forced to close its doors Tuesday and Wednesday after an outbreak of the flu. Parents received phone calls and letters were sent home with students who happened to be present on Monday.

Antioch Community High School reported a whopping 30 percent absentee rate last week, with 20 percent of the faculty also out sick. "Today is much better," said Assistant Principal Stephanie Kromelis. "It is a devastating illness."

Other area schools also report increases in the number of absences. "We've had a lot of kids out," said Wanda Campbell, secretary at Emmons School. "We had the most out two weeks ago." Campbell reports an absence rate as high as 10 percent at Emmons.

Administrators at Antioch's District 34 report the absences peaked last week. While many students are still out sick, the numbers are slowing returning to normal.

At Grass Lake School, administrators report an 8 percent absence rate which is higher than normal. They do not believe the flu outbreak has peaked yet. "Not yet, anyway," said Nancy Nava of the school.

Schools are not the only places the flu is striking. Many companies and government offices report employee shortages as a result of illness.

Physicians in Antioch report a large upswing in patient calls and visits. "We've been very busy," said one area doctor.

The symptoms of this particular virus include high fever, headache, joint and muscle aches, along with upper respiratory symptoms. Doctors are recommending patients take Acetaminophen, push fluids, bed rest, and contact your physician if feeling "very miserable."

Village to endorse sewer feasibility study

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Village of Antioch has agreed to send a letter in support of the sewer feasibility study for the unincorporated areas of Antioch Township. Carol Jonites, president of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch, made a request to the Village Board.

Jonites explained to the board the feasibility study is needed to evaluate the costs and even just the possibility of sewer service to the township. She told the board of the numerous failing septic fields and how such failures ultimately degrade the waterways, which are "valuable assets" to both the township and the village.

Overall, the trustees responded favorably to the request. "I think it is an excellent idea," said Trustee Mabel Lou Weber.

"I'm 100 percent in favor of a study for the unincorporated areas," said Trustee Don Amundsen.

The only concern trustees had, however, was that the study would not be limited to the unincorporated areas. The Village of Antioch has its own sewer and water service. "We've had a number of approaches by Fox Lake to get Antioch (the Village) on line at a very high expense to Antioch residents," said Amundsen.

"We want to make it clear the areas serviced by the Village of Antioch will continue to be served by Antioch," said Trustee Marvin Oldenburger.

To make their position clear, the board agreed to send a letter specifying their support of a study for the unincorporated areas only.

Antioch Chamber pitches art fair to village board

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Ed Cimaglio of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce presented the Chamber's proposal for two arts and craft fairs to be held June and September. The Chamber has some exciting plans for the events.

In addition to artisans and crafters "from around the country," the Chamber hopes to include street entertainment such as jugglers and roving musicians to make this an event for the entire family. The Chamber is also proposing to include food and refreshments.

"We want to create a fair atmosphere," said Cimaglio.

The Village Board had asked for a proposal from the Chamber because of concerns regarding where the event would be held. Initially, the Chamber had been seeking several locations.

"We have become more realistic," chuckled Cimaglio.

The "Arts and Crafts Faire" is to be held on Toft Street and in the parking lot of Antioch Lower Grade School, off Main Street. Cimaglio hopes to attract approximately 230 artists and crafters to the event.

"It sounds very interesting," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

It is estimated the Toft Street location will hold approximately 105 vendors and the school will hold over 130. The dates for the fairs will be June 17, 18 and September 9 and 10.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Fight at bowling alley

Ernest L. Herit, 25, of Gurnee and Michael S. Schlicht, 25, of Round Lake Beach were arrested on Feb. 5 after an altercation at the Antioch Bowling Alley. Police were called when a motorist informed police a large group of people had gathered in the parking lot. Apparently the problem began when a customer was dissatisfied with the performance of some entertainers hired by the bowling alley. Herit was arrested for criminal damage to a vehicle after he kicked it saying, "I didn't get my money's worth." Schlicht was arrested and charged with obstruction when he attempted to interfere with Herit's arrest. Both were released on bond.

DUI

Charles E. Kinney, 43, of Chicago, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence on Feb. 4 after becoming involved in a traffic accident. Kinney reportedly tested at .28 on the breathalyzer. He was released on bond.

Discharge of fireworks

Joshua M. Miller, 20, of Lindenhurst and Andrew M. Haley, 21 of Antioch were arrested for discharging fireworks in the municipal parking lot on Toft Street on Feb. 2 at 1:45 a.m. Both men were released on bond after being charged with disorderly conduct/breach of the peace.

Warrant arrests

Mark A. Labno, 35, of Antioch and Lisa D. Forti were both arrested on Feb. 1 for outstanding warrants. Both were brought to the attention of police after Forti filed charges of battery against Labno. A background check revealed both had outstanding warrants and they were taken to Lake County Jail. Their one-year-old child was placed into foster care.

LAKE VILLA

Arrested on traffic charges

Michael Viirre, 18, 207 Hickory, Lindenhurst, on Feb. 5, was arrested for improper use of registration, no insurance and failure to notify change of address. The officer saw Viirre drive through the Amoco station on Deep Lake Road without stopping. He saw Viirre didn't have a front license plate.

LINDENHURST

Man disrupts family

Levi Richardson, 42, North Chicago, on Feb. 2, was arrested for disorderly conduct and criminal trespass. He was arrested after a resident in the 2200 block of Rolling Ridge called 911, and complained the suspect was pounding on the door and yelling at them. The officer arrested Richardson. Apparently, the victim had been signing over checks to Richardson and after Jan. 6 could no longer do so and told Richardson this and Richardson had repeatedly bothered the victim for the money.

Caught drinking and driving

Gerald Grasser, 19, 2104 Fairfield, Lindenhurst, on Feb. 4, was arrested for zero tolerance violation. The officer saw the vehicle in the ditch. Grasser was called and he came to the scene. He told the officer he had lost control of the car. He had a blood alcohol level of .05.

Walt Fehr, Bristol, on Feb. 4, was arrested for driving under the influence. The officer saw his vehicle in the ditch on Deep Lake Road. Fehr failed field sobriety tests and refused a breath test.

Youth's face slashed in RL Beach

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

A gang related slashing will leave a Round Lake Park youth with a scar for life and a scare he soon won't forget.

The 17-year-old victim was slashed from just below his left eye to his chin. The victim had to have 140 stitches to stop the bleeding of his face, according to Commander John Laycock of Round Lake Beach Police.

"It was a very serious slashing," Laycock said. "It came close to the carotid artery and the jugular. It came within a millimeter of the eye."

The incident took place at around 3:30 p.m. on Feb. 1 at the intersection of Ronald Terrace and Lotus Drive.

Apparently the victim flashed gang symbols at the group of three people. The alleged offender, a 16-year-old from Round Lake Beach and two others went after the victim.

The suspect reportedly took out a 4-inch lockblade knife and stabbed the victim.

Police were able to get information from the scene and from witnesses to make an arrest of the suspect the same day of the incident.

The victim was able to identify the suspect in a photo lineup. The suspect has reportedly confessed he performed the act, according to Laycock.

The juvenile was remanded on a juvenile referral on several charges. The charges include armed violence, aggravated battery, aggravated battery with a weapon, mob action and unlawful use of a weapon.

The juvenile is a suspected gang member.

Crane supports decision to drop bomb exhibit

Eighth Dist. Congressman Philip M. Crane has declared he supports the Smithsonian Institution's decision to scrap its controversial exhibit about the atomic bomb being dropped on Japan to end World War II.

"It is disappointing, however, that the Smithsonian did not demand the resignation of Martin Harwit, director of the National Air and Space Museum, who was responsible for the unacceptable exhibit," Crane said.

Crane was one of the 81 House members who last week called for Harwit's resignation or firing.

"The abandoned exhibit did not correctly reflect the victory of American fighting men ending the war," the congressman reported. The atomic bombs dropped on Japan saved the lives of at least 500,000 Americans, as well as hundreds of thousands of Japanese, he noted.

"President Harry Truman was absolutely correct in his decision to use the atomic bomb," Crane said.

Sports equipment fund raiser to benefit Antioch Upper Grade

Well again

Well, I didn't escape the flu or whatever it is that has been sweeping our area and sending many Antiochians to their beds with various symptoms. I hate to be sick. I mean, I really hate to be sick. I've always hated to be sick as far back as I can remember. The way I tackle my sicknesses when they get the better of me is to take to my "death couch." I go down, cover up, home remedy myself, drink lots of liquids, take aspirin for fever, hermitize and pray for a better tomorrow. I am now enjoying that better tomorrow as I sit and peck away at yet another "Hometown Goodies" column. So enjoy!

AUGS benefit

Antioch Upper Grade School has made arrangements with Play It Again Sports to conduct a used sporting goods/exercise equipment fundraiser.

It will work two ways. If you have some good, reusable items to donate, all the money can go to AUGS, or you can keep 50 percent of the amount given for the equipment and donate the other 50 percent to AUGS. Any money earned from this fund raiser will be spent on technology for the school.

All equipment must be in reusable condition with no damaged or missing parts. The following items will be considered—all ice hockey gear, figure skates, hockey skates, in-line skates, down hill ski equipment, snowboards, cross country skis, various exercise equipment such as weights, stepers, treadmills, exercycles, boxing gear, wrestling gear, karate and kick boxing gear, baseball equipment, golf equipment, etc.

A drop-off weekend is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 24, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, Feb. 25, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The drop off will take place at the north entrance of the school next to the gym. Please remember, no junk will be accepted, only good reusable items. For further information, please contact the school office at 395-1905.

Big guy

The Camp Crayon staff always enjoys it when former Camp Crayonites stop in to say hello. We had just said good-bye to the last of the little ones and their parents when eight-year-old Troy Sondag and his mom, Joyce, bopped in to say hello. I recognized Joyce immediately, and I knew the handsome young man standing next to her was one of her sons. I wanted to say "Hello, Troy," but I held my tongue as Troy had grown so much I thought him to be his older brother Kyle. Finally, I plunged right in asking if he was Troy. I truly expected a negative answer. It's amazing how much a child can grow from preschool to third grade. He was already almost as tall as I am. It was nice seeing you, "big guy". Please stop in again.

Happy birthday

I would like to extend a very happy Feb. 10th birthday wish to Brianna Emerson who is celebrating her seventh birthday that day. Brianna is in the first grade at Antioch Lower Grade School. Happy birthday, Brianna, and please remind mom to call me with a tidbit from time to time.

Another Blooper

Bear with me while I blow "The Blooper Whistle" on myself, thanks to the vigilance and memory bank of a special friend. As I've mentioned many times over, I've been blessed with a handful of great, longtime friends. This lengthy connection with people sets the stage for the creation of a lot of history between individuals.

It also gives your friends the license to laugh like crazy when they catch you committing a ridiculous blooper—especially one committed in front of God and everyone. I usually "bloop" with such confidence that I always do so in front of a large audience of telltale witnesses. After my dear friend Darlene Olenick read my "so-called" old song title "Ghost Angel," she began to laugh hysterically. She knew instantly I was hearing the melody to either "Earth Angel" or possibly "Teen Angel" and came up with my misguided version "Ghost Angel."

The history between Darlene and I that makes this particular "Lizard blooper" even more comical than most is because Darlene discovered a long time ago that while I was vaguely familiar with all sorts of old melodies, putting titles or lyrics to the tunes was definitely not my strong suit. I guess this proves "I'm a drummer that dances to my own beat" or something like that! I'm sure Darlene will call me and let me know just how close I'm not!

Accidental Discovery

Here I sat at Camp Crayon, and in walks Mary Turner with her little son, Matthew Steven. She was clutching a very special card, hand-made for her by her oldest son, Andy. It was a birthday card given to her on that very day for her birthday.

As all of us mothers do, she wanted to share the specialness of the moment and told me how much that hand-made card meant to her. Knowing Mary, she will definitely treasure it for ever and ever, as she should.

However, Mary does not know she is in for a scolding from "The Lizard." A special lady, celebrating her special day, and I find out by accident, making a belated birthday wish necessary—to shame! However, the date is now logged in on my computer and I will get it in on time next year. Join with me now in wishing Mary Turner a very happy belated Jan. 24 birthday and many, many more to come.

Socializing

When hubby and I were recently traveling along a busy highway, I glanced up and saw six little birds perched on an electrical wire crossing above the highway. I noticed they were paired off in twos, and I naturally assumed they were three sets of mated birds. My mind began to wander with the following thoughts as I watched them sit motionless on the high wire.

How did the three feathered couples end up in the same place at the same time? Are animals of the wild socially inclined as us humans? Just like we come together with other couples to bowl, go on vacations, enjoy a day at the casino or dog track, gather for social gatherings in one another's homes, etc., do they also plan social gatherings?

I can hear the birds now, "Hey, Harriet, why don't we call Bill and Mary and Gladys and Herman and see if they want to meet us on the electrical wire over the highway to watch those crazy humans speeding by in their motorized vehicles? I know, I'm sick, but then someone has to be. Take care till we meet again, and keep calling in those special personal news tidbits.

This carriage is believed to have carried President Abraham Lincoln on his trips to Chicago. It will be on display in front of Patricia's Amish Furniture in Antioch Feb. 10 to 12.

Historical Lincoln carriage on display

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

In April of 1837, Abraham Lincoln moved from his home in New Salem to Springfield. By 1839, he had established himself as a lawyer in Springfield, and was required to make frequent trips to Chicago.

However, the trip from Springfield to Chicago took two days requiring Lincoln to travel by both train and carriage. Lincoln would ride the Burlington Railroad from Springfield to Lyons (now called Riverside) where he would then take a carriage to Fullersburg. Lincoln reportedly stayed overnight in Fullersburg at the Fullersburg Hotel and continued on his way to Chicago the next day.

The carriage believed to be used by Lincoln on his journey to Chicago will be on display in honor of his birthday at Patricia's Amish Furniture in Antioch. Stop by on Feb. 10, 11, and 12 to see the beautifully restored brougham, now owned by Windance Acres owner Leon Brockway.

Brockway said he obtained the carriage from the Riedlinger family. Riedlingers were able to trace back the ownership to James Reynolds, who is believed to have been Lincoln's driver.

"Mr. Reynolds would give him a ride to Fullersburg," said

Brockway. "Then, he would spend the night at a hotel and catch a train to Chicago."

The carriage was found in 1944 when Edward Riedlinger purchased a home in Fullersburg, originally owned by Reynolds. The brougham was parked behind a partition in an old barn.

A lot of work was needed on the carriage when Brockway bought it. "I had it completely restored," explained Brockway. "I had to put on new wheels and brakes."

After the restoration work was completed, the carriage was put back into service. "We do a wedding business," said Brockway. "Some couples prefer a carriage to limousine. We do about 100 weddings a year."

Antioch board declares March Red Cross month

The Antioch Village Board has approved a proclamation designating the month of March to be Red Cross Month. The organization, founded May 21, 1881, is the largest social service agency in the world.

The American Red Cross Mid-America Chapter was founded in 1915 and today provides service for eight million people in the 4,110-square-mile area including Cook, Kane, DuPage, Kendall, McHenry, Will, and Lake counties. The agency has been designated, by Congress, to be the nation's main voluntary agency responsible for disaster relief.

The Red Cross has also been designated by Congress as the primary emergency communications link between men and women in the military and their families at home. The agency also helps cut through government red tape, helping military personnel get support and services.

In Lake County, local volunteers have provided assistance to victims of fires, floods, and other disasters along with educational programs. In addition, over 2,400 Christmas stockings were stuffed and distributed to indigent families of Lake County.

The purpose of the proclamation is to heighten awareness of the Red Cross in the community.

Rescue Squad elects officers

Ralph Antonelli has been elected president of the Antioch Rescue Squad. Antonelli, a long time village resident and business person, owns and operates Aries Construction and APR Building Inspections. He is a past president of the Rotary Club and a member of Antioch's Chamber of Commerce. A member of the Antioch Rescue Squad for the past five years, Antonelli is a licensed paramedic in the state of Illinois, a certified CPR instructor and paramedic instructor. His chairmanship of a number of successful squad committees, along with his continued community involvement, brings the expertise and knowledge needed to this elected position.

John Wolfram has been elected second lieutenant of the Antioch Rescue Squad. Wolfram is also a village resident of Antioch. He is employed by Commonwealth Edison at the Zion Nuclear Plant and is currently enjoying time with his new son. Progressively moving through the ranks, Wolfram has held the positions of treasurer, president, and currently second lieutenant. His devotion in each of these positions has gained him recognition from the squad membership and has contributed to his success at achieving this front line officer position. A member of the Antioch Rescue Squad for the past eight years, Wolfram is a nationally licensed paramedic. He takes over the position of second lieutenant from long time resident and member David Horton.

Horton will be stepping down from officership with 11 years of service to the squad and community. He will continue to be a strong presence, providing continued volunteerism with the squad by staying a licensed paramedic, CPR instructor and paramedic instructor. Horton has been the driving force behind the rescue squad's four advanced life support equipped ambulances, and he will continue to keep the squad's ambulances in the forefront of technology. His dedication and professionalism to the community and rescue squad ranks him with the forefathers who held the position of second lieutenant, showing us all the true meaning of a volunteer, a person that all present and future members will be grateful for.

The Antioch Rescue Squad is proud to announce these newly elected officers. The squad knows they will work hard toward the future growth and strength of the squad and its continued commitment in bringing quality pre-hospital care to the residents of Antioch 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year, through the efforts of 100 percent unpaid volunteers.

Snowmobiling bill progresses

A bill to regulate the use of alcohol and drugs while operating a snowmobile passed out of the Senate Transportation Committee unanimously. The bill which requires snowmobilers to submit to the same alcohol and drug testing as boat operators was introduced by State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

Geo-Karis said Senate Bill 70 amends the Snowmobile Registration and Safety Act by providing for implied consent to blood, breath and urine tests to determine the amount of alcohol and/or other drugs in a snowmobile operator's blood.

"There have been some serious snowmobiling accidents that involved alcohol consumption," said Sen. Geo-Karis. "The faster we can get this bill to the governor, the faster we will get reckless snowmobilers out of our neighborhoods. Snowmobiles can be just as dangerous as automobiles when operated recklessly."

According to the bill, refusal to submit to an alcohol test will result in a minimum of a two-year suspension of operating privileges. If a drug test reveals a concentration of blood alcohol of more than .10 or any amount of drug resulting from unlawful use, the operator will be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor, punishable by suspension of operating privileges for one year and a fine up to $1,000.

If the operator has a previous conviction or the offense results in great bodily harm to another, the operator will be guilty of a Class 4 felony, punishable by one to three years in prison. Finally, if the offense results in death to another, the operator will be guilty of a Class 3 felony which is punishable by two to five years in prison.

If convicted of a felony, the operator can be fined up to $10,000 and will see their operating privileges revoked for five years.

The bill now advances to the full Senate for consideration.

Breakfast for Beth

St. Stephen's Church in conjunction with First National Bank of Antioch will be holding "Breakfast for Beth" on Saturday, Feb. 25 from 8 a.m. to noon at the church. This is a fund-raising event to generate money for Beth DeRivera, a young Lake Villa victim of multiple sclerosis and severe anorexia who plans to travel to a clinic in Canada. Breakfast will include pancakes and French toast. Tickets are available from the First National Bank of Antioch, the church, as well as other locations. Ticket prices are $5 for adult and $2.50 for children under 12. Call Venus Salak or Nancy Renter at 395-3111 for more information.

Basketball tournament

Antioch Community High School's Sequoit Pride will be holding a three-on-three basketball contest for young people age 11 through 14. The contest, which will be held on March 18 at the school, will cost $15 per player and allow four players to a team. Both boys and girls are welcome. In addition, a 3-point competition and free throw contests will be held for $5 each event. Flyers and registration forms will be distributed to all feeder schools. For more information call Pam at 395-1722.

Fire fund

A trust fund is set up for donations to the Femester family, whose home and belongings were destroyed by fire in Gurnee several weeks ago. Anyone wishing to donate should contact the Brookside/Gurnee location of the First National Bank of Antioch. The telephone number is 662-2265.

Property rights discussed

An attorney from the law firm of Richards, Ralph, Eiden, Eckert and O'Donnell will give a presentation regarding property rights of subdivisions and homeowners associations at the next meeting of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch. The meeting is scheduled for Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Felter's Subdivision clubhouse. An update on the sewer feasibility study will also be presented. For more information call 395-7371.

High School are from Lake Villa Township, it is possible the unit district could gain approval despite the event where a majority of the Antioch vote was against the proposal. However, if District 34 votes were separated out, this would not be the case.

"We can't vote on the issue. Our votes will not be broken out as District 34," said Superintendent Dr. Daniel Burke. "We are extremely concerned about this."

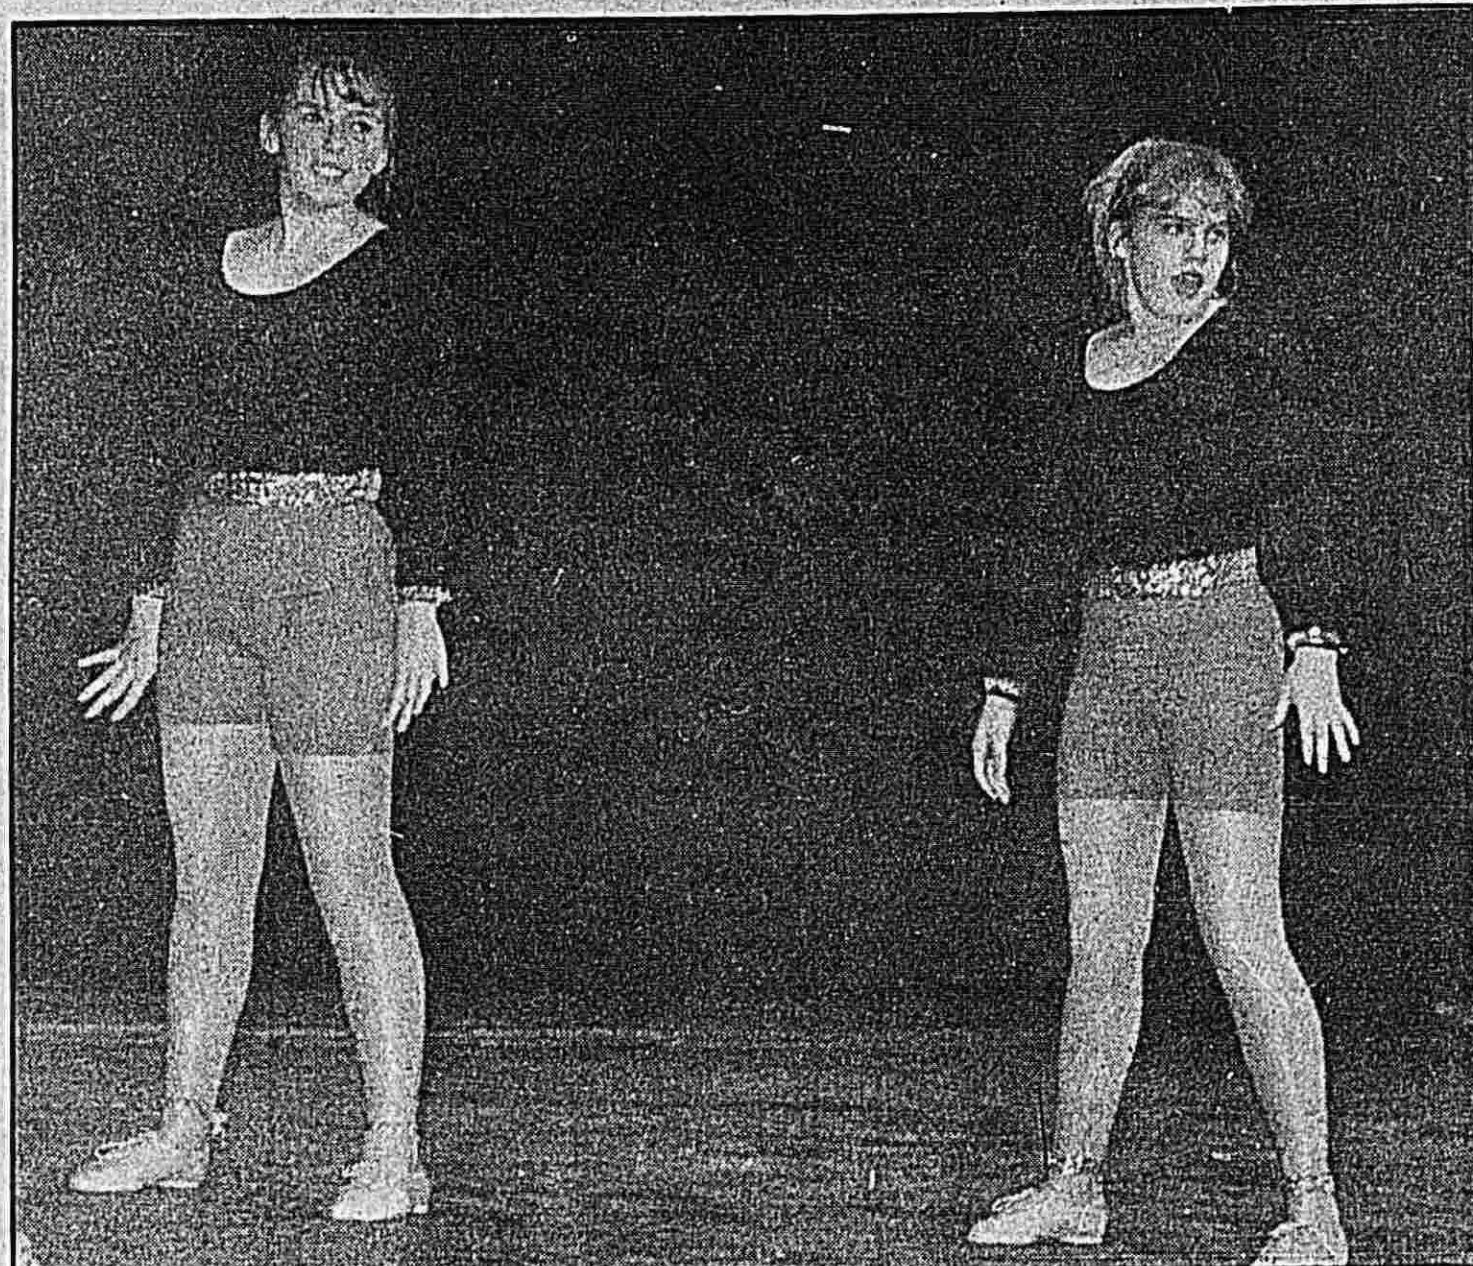

As a result, the school district is considering legal action. On Feb. 14, a special meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. It is expected the meeting will immediately go into executive session to consider possible litigation.

"This is one more example that this type of district consolidation doesn't specifically fit the circumstances we are in," said Burke. He said the special meeting was called to discuss the district's legal position.

"We will be evaluating our chances in litigation of establishing our right, as a district, to speak on the issue," explained Burke.

In addition to the special meeting, the issue of the Lake Villa Unit District will be addressed at the regular board meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at W. C. Petty School and is open to the public.

Lindenhurst wants better boundary pact

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst trustees were concerned with a proposed political and sewer boundary agreement with Antioch and Lake Villa.

The two main concerns were Lake Villa's request to take West Miltmore from Lindenhurst sewer boundary area and Lindenhurst not having access to a commercial corridor on Grass Lake Road. The board did favor giving Lake Villa a portion of their sewer area that is already in the corporate limits of Lake Villa.

The three villages have been negotiating sewer and political boundaries since a Jan. 26 meeting in Lindenhurst. Lake Villa came with a request to service West Miltmore after the initial meeting.

"It may be a bargaining chip the village doesn't want to give up," said Mayor Paul Baumunk of West Miltmore.

Baumunk pointed out the village has no desire to annex West

Miltmore. He said the village would wish to discuss giving up the site in future negotiations.

Trustee Kris Volodka said she was unhappy that Lindenhurst wouldn't have a chance at a commercial corridor on the corner of Grass Lake and Deep Lake Road. All it would get is Polley Field and a possible Lake Villa Unit District High School site.

"We would be left with a demand for sewer and services," Volodka said. "The commercial would be out again," said Trustee David Erickson.

The south corner is currently in Lake Villa's boundaries and will eventually be the Painted Lakes subdivision. To the northeast is an open area which some day could provide commercial growth.

The village also would gain in territory to the north taking about 600 acres in territory if Antioch allows it. The territory can't be serviced by Antioch and isn't in the Northeast Lake FPA which will eventually be serviced by a plant in Old Mill Creek.

All of these proposed agreements would be incorporated in a request from Lake County to the Northern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC). All the villages must agree on the boundaries. Lake Villa and Lindenhurst will have a separate agreement from Antioch and Lindenhurst.

Nothing has been decided at this time. All parties are attempting to reach an accord by a March 1, meeting at NIPC headquarters in Chicago.

LAKE COUNTY ISSUES

Police officials differ on community policing

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Community policing is a hot topic and a current trend among law enforcement with many departments embracing the concept and some considering the approach more of a large-city issue than a smaller community one.

Community policing refers to a more direct approach to law enforcement. It involved police entering the community getting to know residents, getting input from them in efforts to reduce crime before it happens. The concept is to have residents trust police enough to form partnerships, agree on issues and reduce crime and the perception of crime.

Mundelein Police Chief Raymond Rose said Community policing is the only way to adequately address crime in this day in age. He said the old ways don't work and new approaches to law enforcement need to be found.

"If you keep going to the same address for the same reason you have to ask yourself why you keep doing this," Rose said. "If you can find a solution, then you are redirecting what people are doing, cutting costs and reducing the crime rate."

Rose said a perfect example is Whitehall Manor where the village has formed partnerships with the community.

The community members have become comfortable with the officers, formed partnerships and helped reduce crime and the fear of crime.

"The fear of crime is almost above crime itself. People can come to a conclusion about what is around them and that perception is as important. If they see graffiti all over they get the perception the area is crime ridden," Rose said.

Rose said building partnerships with community, getting them to feel comfortable with the police presence, getting the sides to agree on problems and police making the arrests helps people feel better about where they live and that they are making an impact on crime.

"Productivity and getting off your butts and doing something, the ones that are comfortable and don't want to do that, they are the ones who don't want to be involved in community policing," Rose said.

Vernon Hills Police Chief Gary Kupsak has been involved in implementing community-oriented policing programs for years. He said the trick is getting the residents involved in crime prevention.

"We have to have the help of the citizens of the community to be effective," Kupsak said.

Townships still have pride in unique role

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Lake County township supervisors watched with a careful eye as McHenry County voters decided to keep townships intact last fall.

An effort to dissolve townships failed by more than a 3 to 1 margin.

While there have been no formal attempts from citizens to disband townships, one voice which has been preaching consolidation is sixth-year Avon Supervisor Russ Christian.

"I think they could be consolidated. There is a potential for big savings in everything," Christian said.

He suggested the idea several years ago but admits "no one is banging on the doors to help."

"Townships are more important than ever. It is where government belongs - closest to the people," Robert Depke, Warren Township supervisor, said.

For example, Warren provides a wide range of recreational needs and is expanding facilities with more softball and baseball fields on 30 additional acres.

Depke has been supervisor for more than 25 years.

Robert Grever has been supervisor at Elia Township for 14 years.

"We sure were monitoring that closely. It was an interesting process with it being on, then off and then on the ballot. The public information was sent out in a short time, about two or three weeks," he said.

"There are a lot of different services that have changed from 25 years ago," he said.

Social services such as programs for seniors in the seven municipalities and the 35,000 people who call Elia Township home have increased, he commented.

Due to more municipal growth, the number of miles most townships are responsible for is dwindling, he said.

"Nothing happens by itself. You have to make it happen. Some townships do very little and have very little services, but others step up to the plate and do their fair share," Grever said.

If there were no townships, would the services still be provided?

"Yes, but the question is would they be done as well," Grever said.

"Townships provide unique services to the community," Sue Hanson, Lake Villa Township Supervisor, said.

Lake Villa, like Warren, is one of the townships with a park site. The township seeks Community Development Block Grants for drainage, roads, and handicapped accessibility requirements.

The township used to use schools to house recreational programs but that option became expensive.

"We have done a good job of watching the budget and expenses with the tax cap in place," she said.

The township has some 23,000 people and is a growing one.

Lake County proclaims 1995 'Year of the Family'

Pledging to deal with problems that are destroying families and committing to work together to address issues and strengthen family relationships, Lake County schools, government, religious, community and business leaders have declared 1995 the "Year of the Family" in Lake County.

"It is time to pull together to put families first; enough with the violence, drugs, alcoholism and other problems that are tearing families apart," said Dr. M. Jeanne Dolphus Cotton, a Lake County psychologist who is spearheading the campaign.

The group has set its goals to focus attention and plan activities on the issues of youth, parenting and family. "The whole idea is to strengthen the fabric of the family relationship," said Cotton, who decided that now is the time to act on the idea after her participation as a panelist in a community forum CLC hosted last fall that addressed issues and challenges facing Lake County.

"I was overwhelmed by hearing all the problems we have in Lake County—crime, violence, jobs, environment. Everything pointed to one direction—start with the family. That is where we need to begin, and we need to put children and family first," said Cotton.

The Year of the Family project will kick off with a series of parenting workshops, which will be held from 10 a.m. to noon the first Saturday of each month at the College of Lake County Lakeshore Campus, 111 N. Genesee St., Waukegan. The program will also feature summits where children will have a chance to talk about what is going on with their lives. Parents also will hold similar summits to talk about the problems they face.

Additionally, workshops and seminars will be offered by Lake County area schools, park districts, libraries, community organizations, religious groups and government agencies to help families. A 30-minute family oriented talk show, addressing family issues, will be See FAMILY page B3

Police officer's Marine journal helps him heal

TINA L. SWIECHI
Staff Reporter

Marine veteran Stanley Villarreal will never forget that hot day in March, 1968 when he dragged squad leader "Kooky" Gilcrest, and Francis J. "Topper" Capezio behind some burial mounds after they were shot by enemy fire.

"It was a mess. One was shot in the neck and one was shot in the chest," recalled Mundelein resident Villarreal. "They both looked like they weren't going to make it. Kooky survived, but Topper died a short time later.

Topper was 21-year-old Villarreal's good friend, and the pain of remembering is sometimes overwhelming.

He'll stop speaking occasionally and say he'd rather not go on.

But marching forward, he does, in a journal he's been working on for about 15-years.

Villarreal's accounts are extraordinarily vivid, especially the story about the ambush in which his friend lost his life.

"The fence ran for approximately 100 meters from east to west with an opening a third of the way from the east. As instructed by the squad leader (Gilcrest), the squads formed a single file and proceeded through the opening.

"As the first fireteam with the squad leader and radioman cleared the opening, the enemy suddenly opened fire with approximately three automatic weapons and several small arms, from the north tree line splitting the squad in half and seriously wounding the squad leader and radioman. The first fireteam leader, Lance Cpl. Villarreal on determining the casualties, proceeded to drag the two wounded (Topper and Gilcrest) behind some burial mounds which because of their shallow height (12 to 14-inches) could not afford much cover, and directed the corpsman to them. Villarreal then began to direct his men and began shouting information to the second fireteam leader whose squad had been caught behind the fence and unable to see the rest of the squad or enemy.

"The second fireteam leader, who had been designated to succeed the squad leader refused Villarreal's plea to move his men up to the wire fence so that they could better see their targets and provide a base of fire, stating that they were pinned down and unable to move," wrote Villarreal in part of his account, penned several years ago.

"The corpsman (a medic) who had been treating the wounded had apparently gone into shock and was now sitting up rocking back and forth mumbling incoherently. Villarreal realizing the corpsman was in imminent danger, again jumped the fence and tackled him dragging him (back) behind a burial mound."

All of this happened in a matter of about 10-minutes, recalls Villarreal.

During the bloody encounter of this battle in which the United States Marine Corps I-Company 3rd battalion 7th Marines took part in, March 6, 1968 southwest of Da Nang, Villarreal announced he was taking over as squad leader for Gilcrest who had been shot.

The second fireteam leader agreed, and after the battle, Villarreal was cited for a medal of bravery as a consequence of his actions to take the two wounded soldiers out from the site of enemy fire.

While there are times the Marine veteran doesn't wish to elaborate on certain stories, due to the trauma of them, he does admit he's a wealth of knowledge.

One of those such recollections is that of Harold E. Reid. Reid is someone Villarreal will never forget, for each time he looks at his wrist, he's there.

Villarreal wears a POW (Prisoner of War) MIA (Missing in Action) bracelet everyday, never removing the piece of jewelry no matter what.

Imprinted on the red-painted metal is Reid's name, and also the inscription, "USMC 9-13-67 SVN" the date he was discovered missing, and where. SVN stands for South Vietnam.

"This tells the public Reid is still missing and hasn't been accounted for," explained Villarreal who noted he lost a lot of buddies due to death in the war, but Reid was the only one who disappeared under unusual circumstances.

Reid was a red-headed kid from Salt Lake City, Utah, who came from a Mormon family. According to Villarreal, Reid's religion believed when a young man turned 19, he had to go out and perform missionary work. Reid did some in the United States prior to going overseas in the Marines.

But even while in Vietnam, Reid couldn't get away from his convictions to preach the gospel.

One calm day, said Villarreal, Reid told him he was going to the town to talk to the villagers about the word of God. "Don't be stupid," Villarreal told him. "These people will kill you!"

Villarreal didn't really think he'd go, but later that evening, he was awakened in his bunker by a soldier who told him Reid was missing. Someone had seen him walking off towards the town earlier that day.

"We combed every square inch of brush," Villarreal remembers. And they looked each day for about a month with no luck.

He knows what they did to his friend, finding out what happened afterwards. Details, he doesn't like to talk about, but he did say he believes Reid had been killed by the enemy, but not before being tortured.

Villarreal was in the United States Marines from 1966 to 1969, and he said the biggest regret he's ever had, was not staying in the service.

"I love that life," he explained. But his mother was constantly worried that each day during the war would be his last. "My mom had gray hairs when I came back. She never had them before," said Villarreal. "She aged at least ten years."

Sometimes he regrets the move to end his military career. "They offered me four more years as a warrant officer," he explained.

Villarreal is happy with his family, wife, Diane and three daughters. He is a police officer with the Village of Mundelein and is in his 25th year of service.

Stanley Villarreal loading an M-79 or "Blooper" as it was more commonly known 27 miles southwest of Da Nang in 1968. Villarreal, a resident of Mundelein and Mundelein police officer was in the U. S. Marine Corps from 1966 to 1969.

Vietnam Vets to elect officers, host open house in Gurnee

Stanley Villarreal relives the stories he was a part of, about every other day when he record his stories on his home computer. He is also heavily involved in Vietnam Veterans affairs, and happens to be the president of the Vietnam Veterans of America, Northeast Chapter 714 which meets in Gurnee.

On Feb. 26 there will be an Open House at the Gurnee American Legion Hall on 749 N. Milwaukee Ave. near Old Grand Ave., starting at 7 p.m. At this time, the election of officers to the board of the Vietnam Veterans of America will be conducted.

Everyone is invited to attend, including spouses of veterans.

No new leads in investigation

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

According to Lake County Sheriff's Department investigators there have been no new leads in the investigation of the severed legs found in Newport Township.

On Monday, Jan. 16 a German shepherd named Friendly was let out to roam in the morning. When the dog returned, she had brought back a severed portion of a human leg. On Jan. 21, the same dog brought home the left leg. Police have determined both legs belonged to the same body.

After several searches of the area, police could not find any additional clues. A monitor was placed on the dog with no results and police have since removed the tracking collar.

Telexes have been sent to numerous police departments with a description of the victim. Police in Valparaiso, Ind. believe the description sent matches the description of a missing woman, Melanie Hostetler. Blood samples from Hostetler's parents are being sent, along with DNA samples from the severed legs to be compared. It is estimated the results will take six to eight weeks.

Forensic experts have analyzed the two legs and have developed a description of the victim. The woman is believed to be Caucasian, in her late teens or early 20s, 5 feet 3 inches to 5 feet 7 inches tall, 130 pounds, with auburn or light brown hair.

AT A GLANCE

Village upset with county

OLD MILL CREEK—Trustees are incensed Lake County would offer to make a deal with Lindenhurst to extend sewer service east of

Rte. 45 into the Village of Old Mill Creek. At issue is the Druce-Hoffman parcel in Old Mill Creek which the county has offered to allow Lindenhurst service for a $75,000 payment. Old Mill Creek Trustee Ray Boller is upset the County has offered this to Lindenhurst without consulting Old Mill Creek. He said this type of activity threatens to disrupt the village's comprehensive plan. The County was willing to negotiate this parcel as part of a deal which would give a portion of the Bonner Farm in Lindenhurst as a forest preserve farm and allow a trail from the McDonald Woods Forest Preserve to Grand Avenue.

Village boundaries

LINDENHURST—Village trustees expressed concern with a proposed sewer and boundary agreement with Lake Villa, Antioch and Lake County which could leave the village short. Among the concerns expressed was allowing Lake Villa to put unincorporated West Miltmore into its sewer boundary area. Trustees felt this issue should be negotiated at a later time. Also, trustees wanted to see a corner of Grass Lake Road in Lindenhurst to provide the village with a possible commercial corner in the future.

Gurnee abates taxes

GURNEE—Gurnee trustees agreed to abate last year's portion of two bond issues. The total abatement for the 1990 alternate revenue bond was for $239,905 while the total for a 1993 refinancing was $234,028.74. The bonds were used for water system improvements and to build the village hall.

Dist. 73 poses cost reduction

VERNON HILLS—Hawthorn School Dist. 73 presented two cost reductions plans to be implemented, depending upon the outcome of two referendums April 4. In Plan A, more than $2.1 million will be slashed from next year's budget if the referendums do not gain voter approval. In Plan B, more than $770,225 will be cut from next year's budget if the referendums pass. The two referendums include a $10 million bond issuance aimed to alleviate the district's $9.4 million overall debt, and the second referendum includes a 30-cent tax increase in the education fund designed to help the board balance future budgets. School officials said both referendums have to pass in order for the district to solve its financial dilemma, and cost reductions will be implemented to prevent future budget deficits.

Lincoln carriage on display

ANTIOCH—The carriage believed to be used by Abraham Lincoln on his journeys from Springfield to Chicago will be on display in honor of his birthday at Patricia's Amish Furniture in Antioch. Stop by on Feb. 10, 11, and 12 to see the beautifully restored brougham.

MPD promotes Eugenis

MUNDELEIN—Mundelein Police Department and the Village Board honored the promotion of Cameron Eugenis to sergeant. Eugenis has been involved with the police department since Oct. 1986. Many of the officers from Mundelein and surrounding villages came to witness the promotion, along with family and friends. Eugenis' father was given the honor to place the new badge on the uniform of the newest Mundelein Sergeant at the meeting.

Park could get shade trees

LIBERTYVILLE—The Libertyville Parks and Recreation department has applied for a $11,500 grant, for the placement of 35 trees in the Nicholas

Dowden Park, this fall. The park received new playground equipment last year and with the addition of the trees the park will have a soft tone added to make the park complete. The department will not know if they will receive the grant until the end of summer.

FOP Lodge pleads not guilty

GRAYSLAKE—Allegations the Grayslake Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 99 are raising funds for their own union activities are false according to Lodge Secretary Dave Williams. Controversy was raised over a telemarketing firm representing the Lodge in a fund raising effort. The receipts, printed by the telemarketing firm, state the donations do not constitute a charitable contribution and are used for union activities only. Williams confirmed the donations do not constitute a charitable contribution because people are getting something in return for their money. The reference to union activities is false because the police do not have a union in Grayslake. Williams said a number of complaints have come in regarding the telemarketing firm and subsequently the lodge will choose another method of fund raising next year. The lodge uses fund-raising moneys to select its own charitable contributions.

Cub Scouts top sellers

GRAYSLAKE—Avon Center School, part of the Grayslake School District 46 school system, has a claim to fame with 24 boys who comprise Cub Scout Pack 298. The pack was the top seller in the nation for the winter popcorn sales, realizing a profit of nearly $6,400 from a total of 350 cases of popcorn. Six of the boys earned Nike sneakers in recognition. Matt Paschke won a drawing for his family to go to Disney World. Zach Peterson was the top seller for the troop.

City opts for summer help

PARK CITY—Park City council members are electing to continue the summer work agreement with Waukegan schools. For the last three summers, the city has worked with Waukegan schools to give students work experience with maintenance chores.

PETS OF THE WEEK

"Samantha"

"Samantha" is only about seven months old, with a "low maintenance" short coat of white and very large polka dots of black and brown. She's quick to learn, very affectionate and is rather calm for being what is considered still a pup.

Call the Assisi Animal Foundation at (815)455-9411 for adoption information on Samantha and other personable and healthy pets from the organization which has won the Award of Excellence from the Chicago Veterinary Medical Assn. The foundation also welcomes mature volunteers who can give just an hour or two a week with the animals in cheerful, no-kill surroundings.

"Rufus"

Gentle giant "Rufus" follows you, reaches up or out to people, adores attention and handling and is a real pick. He's neutered, has his shots and wears a handsome red and white coat.

Also, the Assisi Animal Foundation makes adoption certificates available if one wishes to add a pet to someone else's life. This makes it possible for the recipient to make their own personal and responsible choice.

"Blondie"

"Blondie" is a big girl, adores running and frisking. She has a magnificent thick, ruddy coat and is a very clean and intelligent creature. She has a wonderful disposition and is quick to learn and has already had some training. She would make a marvelous family companion in a household with a fenced yard or loads of room to wander in safety. Call the Assisi Animal Foundation for further information.

'Second Chance Pete'

"Pete" is a mostly shepherd mix, black and tan, neutered male. Pete is five years old, but don't tell him that—with his lively, playful behavior, this is a dog who believes he's still a puppy. He was housebroken when brought to the shelter, and he was raised with children. This gentle dog loves people, sits on command and is eager to learn and please. He's been waiting in Cage 67 for 15 long months to go home to a love family of his own.

Cash $55 donation includes collar, leash, first shots, follow-up care and more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd. in Deerfield. Call 945-0235 for further information.

Editor's note: "Juno," at the shelter for over a year, and another long-time resident, "Duke," were featured in January editions of Lakeland Newspapers and have been adopted.

Kupsak said Vernon Hills assigns officers to a particular beat or geographic area. The officers know the area and the people in the area and can identify problem areas.

Also, community meetings with various subdivisions and surveys assist the department in areas residents are concerned with.

Lindenhurst Police Chief Jack McKeever said he community policing has more of an impact in larger communities where residents are less likely to have contact with a police officer unless in a call for service.

McKeever said many smaller police department already have programs which would be considered community oriented policing. For instance, the Lindenhurst Police Basketball League where officers help coach teams with youth aged 14-18 for a Friday night league.

"Community policing won't have a dramatic affect on the crime statistics," McKeever said.

Most crimes are related to domestic violence, drug and gang related activity. If you don't have a bad dangerous domestic situation or are involved in drugs and gangs you are not going likely to be touched by crime, according to McKeever.

McKeever did acknowledge community policing may have an impact on how people feel about crime. It may help them feel more safe if they would want to go for a walk or to a store in evening hours.

Additionally, the program will sponsor a kick-off rally, led by acclaimed motivational speaker Les Brown, at 7:30 p.m. April 11 at Waukegan West High School.

Cotton noted that all the programs will offer support and a sense of hope to those families facing challenges. She hopes that the various organizations involved in the project can assist youth with self-esteem while offering parents ideas they can use to bring healing to their own families.

The Lake County Year of the Family Project is sponsored by the College of Lake County, Lake County Fighting Back, Trinity Universal Center, and the United Way of Lake County. For information, call Dr. Cotton at 623-8687 or 816-0388.

Democratic Party calls town meetings

Terry Link, chairman of the Lake County Democratic Central Committee, announced a new effort by the Lake County Democratic organization to hear from residents around the county.

Democratic township chairs will host a series of town meetings beginning in the next 30 to 60 days in locations accessible and convenient to all areas of Lake County. All residents, regardless of party affiliation, are invited to attend and share their issues and ideas.

For further information on the town meetings and/or the Lake County Democratic Central Committee, call Link at 234-6333.

Prairie Crossings melds developer, environment

Prairie Crossings has unveiled four models in its low-density "conservation community" realizing the dream of the late Gaylord and Dorothy Donnelley and other neighbors on the Liberty Prairie Reserve.

Prairie Crossings is a unique development designed to preserve the distinctive open landscape of central Lake County. The development stands in stark contrast to those which have sprung up in former farm fields throughout the county over the past two decades, it is saved from conventional dense development.

The community will have just 317 single-family homes on 667 acres of gently rolling countryside. More than 350 acres will be devoted to gardens, prairies, pastures, farm fields, marshes and lakes. The open spaces will invite residents to enjoy outdoor activities including trails which link the community to the Liberty Prairie Reserve. The development also offers a 22-acre lake and amenities including a Market Square featuring a farmer's market, community center, fitness center and flower gardens.

In addition to preserving Lake County's valuable open space, Prairie Crossings goes a step farther in building on its Lake County roots. Streets are named after early settlers or prairie plants native to the area. Nearby historic buildings saved from demolition, will be move to Market Square and restored. Sixteen different homes have been designed inspired by local farmhouses.

The time is long overdue for developers to enhance and build-upon communities instead of taking from them.

The tide is turning and more developers are realizing the importance of preserving and protecting the landscape. Following in Prairie Crossings' footsteps is Saddlewood Associates, one of The James Companies of Illinois. The company is undertaking a major tree preservation program in its rural Wauconda development.

The job of preserving the community must be legislated by local government officials who need to insist developers play a more community-minded role.

Making a difference

While members of the press recognize on a continual basis the vital role they play in informing, educating and at times influencing the public, it is not often reporters have the opportunity to make a profound difference in the life of another individual.

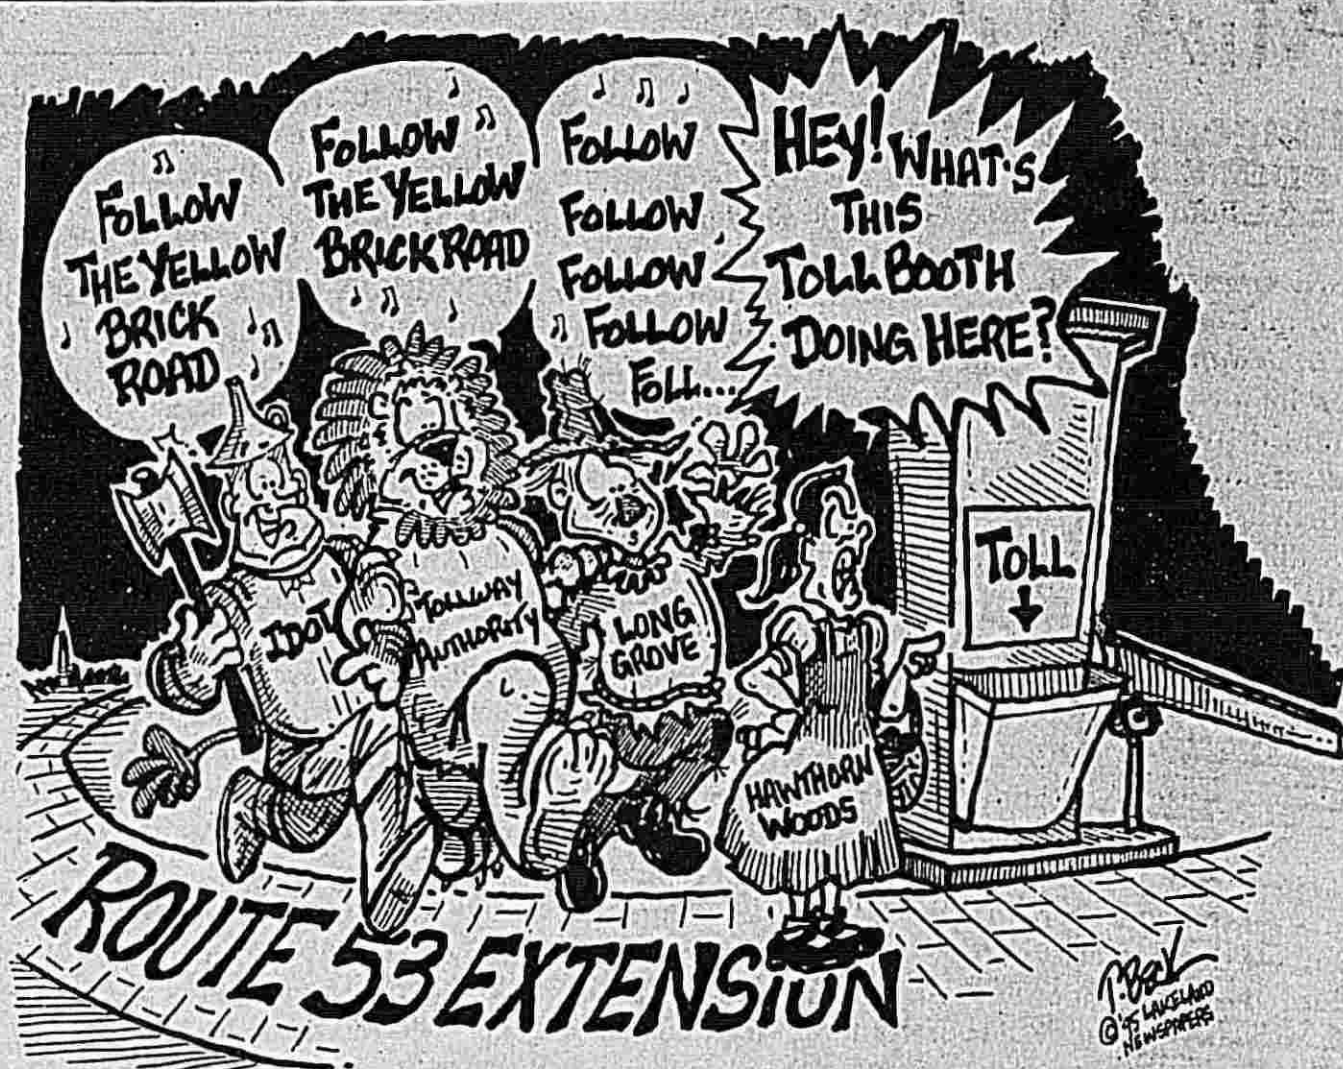

Lakeland Newspapers had the opportunity to do so last week, when reporter Tina Swiech was the bridge in reuniting a Vietnam veteran with the family of his best friend, who died while saving his life.

Lakeland Newspapers first became aware of Dick Coughlin's 28- year search to find the family of Martin Eastham when he called to place a classified advertisement searching for any information on the fellow soldier who had lived in Fox Lake. Fox Lake area reporter Swiech spoke to Coughlin on the phone from his California home and wrote a story about his search which ran in all editions of the paper.

A week following publication, former Fox Lake Police Chief Ron Nagel recognized Marty "Doc" Eastham as his boyhood friend who used the name Marty Alban while attending Grant High School. Nagel put Coughlin in touch with Eastham's mother, Blossom Guinte of Minneapolis, and set up a reunion among family members in the Fox Lake area which included a visit to the Fox Lake cemetery where Eastham is buried.

Coughlin and Eastham's relatives met face to face and exchanged stories about the 23-year-old who died on a battlefield in Vietnam in 1966. The reunion has healed wounds and initiated life-long friendships.

The rewards for one's toils are often hard to see. In this case, it was rewarding and provided an opportunity to be proud of our role as a member of the media.

Growth issues abound in April 4 campaigning

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Growth, in all its dynamic facets, will be the issue in all but a smattering of village elections April 4.

Candidates now in place for election day are running on platforms of more growth, less growth; better management; defining, deflecting, or in some cases, defeating growth.

In one community, Hawthorn Woods, there is a split over how best to deal with a road building project—the extension of Rte. 53—that is destined to literally split the village. There is a sort of comical side to the way electioneering is shaping up in Lake Zurich. One time outs are now in and orchestrating new development. Former ins who presided over a period of rapid growth now are out and want to get back in to slow things down. Downright confusing!

Gumee Mayor Dick Welton, the county's municipal growthmeister for more than a decade, will be taking a seat above the fray and let trustees and would-be trustees grapple with management problems. Ditto in Libertyville where the issue is how to spend tax monies. Tax watchdog Jack Martin, finally on the ballot after years of second guessing, will make sure the issue IS spending.

Despite a moratorium on annexation, Cambridge Homes has been given the greenlight for an apple orchard home project in Wauconda where Mayor James Eschenbauch is known to be sympathetic toward expansion.

One bona fide "stop growth" slate sparked by the controversy over destruction of the Fairfield Marsh has emerged in Round Lake Heights. Candidates and the electorate alike in the Village of Round Lake are facing explosive growth questions with a collective yawn. Four candidates are running unopposed, which amounts to a tacit referendum.

Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk is getting a second term by default(no opposition), but his idea of growth is commercial rather than residential. In Mundelein where growth has been a byword for more than 20 years, the election boils down to a choice of two slates chanting "we can do it better" for electors. A question of style also is taking precedence over substance in Vernon Hills, which has been setting the pace for growth for 30 years or more.

Voters and candidates in Grayslake, where population has nearly tripled in less than a decade, will be dealing with the byproducts of growth—post office too small, schools too small, police headquarters too small.

Politicians in Antioch and Fox Lake may be the lucky ones. Their challenges this time around are keeping the water mains flowing and making sure pot holes are filled.

Fortunately for us sideliners, there are folks willing to devote their time and energy to local government. Somebody has to do the job. That may be the reason why former Lake Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer jumped into the municipal fray again by seeking a trusteeship in the upcoming election.

—LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Mene, mene, tekeli, upharsin'

Editor,

Like a stopped calendar clock, once a year our biased and banal media stumbles onto a profound truth. Gingrich and Clinton are "two peas in a pod": the shattered family life, the wacky gurus, the constant political gobbledygook, the cynical manipulation of ideas and people, the brazen hypocrisy and corruption.

What better illustration of our politics than Gingrich pretending his $4.5 million book deal is anything but a thinly disguised bribe or Clinton's commentary: "Gee, I only made $35,000 a year as governor" (while his wife peddled influence for millions)! But, as usual with the media, the most relevant similarity is ignored.

"Mene: God has numbered the days of your reign and brought it to an end."

Four times in U.S. history, taxes and the number of federal regulations have zoomed upward in a very short period: World War II, 1970-73, 1977-80 and 1991-94. Each time the economy collapsed, with each collapse worse than the last, i.e., the 1974 recession was worse than the post war recession, the 1982 recession was worse than the 1974 recession. We are on the brink of the greatest economic crisis since the 1930s.

"Tekel: You have been weighed on the scales and found wanting."

Every economic precedent says we are near a severe recession that will balloon the deficit to $600 See LETTERS page B5

PARTY LINES

Gash outlines state Democratic caucus agenda

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column on political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Ten Illinois House members formally announced the creation of the new "Illinois Democratic Caucus" and outlined their agenda for "getting things done with a different set of ideas" during an introductory news conference in Springfield.

The caucus will push for reforms in government operations, the Toll Highway Authority and public assistance programs, improved crime laws and tougher enforcement of child support.

"Our agenda is to promote responsible government, reasoned public policy and fiscal sanity without sacrificing the compassion and ideals of the Democratic Party," said Rep. Lauren Beth Gash of Highland Park.

The caucus is busy preparing legislation that reflects the group's stated principles and which seeks to appeal to independent, ticket-splitting voters. Sounds like a plan to end bloc voting which hurt the Democrats greatly in November.

Gash

Champion of local government—Speaking of Rep. Gash the Suburban Mayors Action Coalition (SMAC) has named Gash a "champion of local government." The award was based on legislators votes in concurrence with SMAC's position on municipal issues. Gash has been named to served on a Welfare Reform Task Force for the state which will submit its legislative recommendations to the General Assembly this spring. Serving on the task force will help Gash meet those Democratic caucus goals.

Delegation chairman—Congressman Phillip Crane has been elected Chairman of the Illinois Congressional Delegation by the membership of the delegation. The delegation meets regularly to discuss issues of particular interest to the citizens of the Illinois. Membership is bipartisan.

Leading prayer—Illinois State Representative Al Salvi will deliver the keynote speech at the Illinois Citizens for Life's annual prayer breakfast Feb. 11 at the Marriott Oak Brook. Salvi will speak on the 1994 World Population Conference in Cairo. The pro-life organization is committed to guaranteeing right to life of all persons, regardless of age or disability. Salvi is the father of four and was recognized last year by St. Francis de Sales of Lake Zurich as a distinguished alumni.

Togetherness—Politics has been absent from the Lake Zurich Village Board for the past several years. Mayor Deborah Vasels has managed to bring a sense of togetherness to the board which was often split along party lines during the reign of Jim Kay. At that time the village board was used as an example on how not to manage in graduate courses in public administration. Vasels can be proud of the new era but the tide may be changing. Current trustee Charlie Crawford appears to be leaning toward the challenging slate of Jim Kriskche, Jim Weakly and John Tolomel and away from incumbents Laurence Coffey, Gerard Blum and Kathy Schwelt.

Vasels

No yard signs for elections—The four candidates for the three open trustee positions on the Antioch Village Board have released a joint statement promising not to put up campaign signs in yards for this election. The candidates, incumbent trustees Mabel Lou Weber, Wayne Foresta, and non-incumbents Larry Hanson and Taso Maravela issued a press release on Monday night after the Antioch Village Board meeting.

Wearing out equipment—Fox Lake Trustee Jim Thillen told the village board there has been a the large number of fire and rescue calls for the month of January. "They just don't seem to slow down at all," said Thillen. The trustee noted the total number of combined calls were 165 last month. "No wonder they go through so many ambulances," he said.

Thillen

Financially challenged—"I look at the tax cap as a tax handicap for taxing bodies," said Grayslake School District 46 Business Manager/Treasurer Orvin Clark. Clark was discussing the need for a 60-cent rate increase in the school district's beleaguered education fund. The board of education had already voted to place a referendum to that effect on the April ballot. Without the tax cap in place, Clark said the school district would have over a $1 million balance in the education fund alone.

to $800 billion and bring on national bankruptcy. We need drastic action. We get politics as usual! Balancing the budget is child's play: A spending freeze using obvious waste to fund Social Security cost of living increases, gold backed/inflation adjusted debt to cut federal interest rates by 1 percent (50 billion), selling 2 percent of 3 trillion in federal property, a flat tax generating 50 billion more revenue while liberating grateful taxpayers from 300 billion in preparation costs.

Yes, a child could balance our budget, but not Gingrich and Clinton. NAFTA, GATT, the Mexican bail-out, the "impossibility" of an immediate balanced budget, the cover-up of rogue operations like the Waco and Ruby Creek massacres—it's the same old "bipartisan" tune of corrupt incompetence, even if the words and singers are slightly different.

"Peres (Upharsin): Your kingdom is divided and given to (others)."

Unfortunately for us, the coming economic collapse will not be the same old tune. People are not going to react as passively as they did in the 1930s. Conditioned by abortion and euthanasia to regard life as cheap, taught that they are "entitled" to the good life without lifting a finger, they will pour out of our ghettos to rob and kill. They will have cars and guns this time. And if the 1992 L.A. riots are any indication, they will have the active support of many in academe, the media and the halls of government. Any attempt to stop these "victims" by local action (by buying weapons or organizing militias) will be vilified. The small, pitiful steps being taken now to change the welfare mess will be scapegoated as the "cause of all our troubles." Our politics will descend into chaos even while the economy implodes. We will be ripe for dictatorship. God help us all!

Salvi's twisted logic

Editor:

Rarely have we seen a more vivid example of a wolf in sheep's clothing than the recent columns by State Rep. Al Salvi calling for reform of our legal system.

While his twisted logic suggests reform in his message to his constituents, his actions on the floor of the Illinois House of Representatives show him to be nothing more than another personal injury trial lawyer, united with his trial lawyer colleagues regardless of political party, in opposition to true reform of our civil justice system.

Indeed, Salvi's constituents may wonder why he was the only Republican to side with former Speaker Michael Madigan and the other House Democrats in speaking against repeal of the outdated and archaic Structural Work Act.

And why is Salvi on record as opposing the civil justice reforms advocated by Gov. Edgar, Speaker Daniels and Senate President Philip—all Republicans—and supported by 94 percent of the Republicans in the Illinois House?

Is it because Rep. Salvi, like his brother Patrick, the former president of the Ill. Trial Lawyers Assn., is a personal injury lawyer himself? Is it because he doesn't want to see any reform that could cut into the vast earnings that trial lawyers make by chasing ambulances and hovering like vultures at disaster scenes? Earnings that the trial lawyers take from the taxpayers, consumers, patients and working people of Illinois?

Since 80 percent of Illinois residents are in favor of reform of the civil justice system in our state—and they blame the personal injury lawyers (the contingency fee lawyers who work on a percentage basis) for the skyrocketing costs of litigation—maybe Rep. Salvi will have a message sent to him in the primary election in 1996. Republicans in his district should not tolerate his conduct, and the greed of the trial lawyers. Salvi will most likely learn from his constituents in 1996 just how they feel about his behavior in 1994.

Bilingual education not the answer

Editor:

I was very disturbed to see bilingual "education," in the form of "English as a Second Language," is being introduced into Grant High School.

In the last half of this century 50 percent of all high paying jobs required a strong mastery of the English language. Accurate, precise language skills are needed to communicate, advertise and sell. This percentage will probably go to 85 percent in the next 30 years.

Bilingual education tries to teach children the science and math disciplines, in a combination of languages. Most bilingual students never attain the command of English that allows them to pursue these high paying jobs. English as a Second Language says it all. Children who are taught all the necessary disciplines in the English language have a marked advantage over those who are not.

The current state of government controlled education is reflected in this issue. Today's educators are more interested in making our children "feel good," instead of imparting a profitable discipline, the kids are going to need to compete tomorrow. Imputing discipline and knowledge can be an arduous, boring task for pupil and teacher alike. But it builds a profitable, exciting future for the students. Making them feel good is far easier and makes life much more pleasant and interesting today. It also steals their ability to make a living tomorrow.

All four of my grandparents emigrated from Lithuania before World War I. They all spoke broken English. They were wise enough to emphasize English, both at home and in school. Lithuanian was the "second language" in their households. All their children mastered the English language as first generation Americans. The same people who push this multicultural agenda on us, are the ones who cry "racism" when their "feel good" children can't compete in the marketplace.

My grandmother had very little formal education. If she were alive today, she would get a good belly laugh at the "educated elites" who dominate tax funded schools, who don't even understand the importance of English. After the good laugh, she would buy her great grandchildren phonics, and later that night tell me to eat everything on my plate.

County can't duck density

Editor:

I hope Chairman Depke was misquoted in a recent article that stated, "Those developments are approved by the local village boards, not the county. The county board has not approved a housing development that exceeds two units per acre."

The property my parents struggled to keep as open recreational land is now being considered for development; an 86-unit townhouse subdivision on 14.3 buildable acres. It is surrounded by single family homes and borders a subdivision with 36 children attending an overcrowded school. How is this nightmare becoming a reality? We live in Grant Township governed by Lake County ordinances.

This property has 1,100 feet of lake shore frontage on an ADID 100 acre spring-fed lake. It channels into Duck Lake, a massive wetland/flood plain area. The proposed development site was home to a 5-Star Coast to Coast membership campground for people traveling nationwide. It was a hub resort for Chicago, Great Lakes, Great America, Gurnee Mills and Milwaukee.

County provided the developer with a range of choices. He filled out an application for the Land Planning Conference. The Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality projected the density by doing a "site capacity calculation." Concerns from surrounding property owners should have been addressed at this time. Petitions were not enough. Procedure was.

The procedure, called the Subdivision Review Process, held staff meetings with five departments to examine the proposed plans: Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality; Building and Zoning; Transportation; Health; and Public Works. There is no regulatory agency for environmental concerns on staff. The Dept. of Conservation requests for protection of lakes and wetlands are not always adhered to, especially in Lake County. The result: What's expected of the developer, not what is accepted by surrounding property owners.

When most of staff's comments had been addressed, the plans proceeded to the Planning and Zoning Committee for approval. It's not mandatory for committee members to do an on-site inspection; staff mentioned the concerns of surrounding property owners at this meeting. Citizens cannot speak at this meeting; Chairman Raftis rarely makes an exception.

I'm not quite clear about the rest of the "procedure." I'm learning as I go. However, I do know zoning and density are the direct result of county procedure. Not all developments are approved by village government.

When you live in a township, county decides your fate. When you sit in the chair, you are responsible for some of the high density developments in Lake County.

'Dreamgirls' a snapshot of reality

The stagebill for Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre production of "Dreamgirls" suggests that the show is "not only a parody of the Motown sound," but is also a journey through the change from rhythm and blues to pop to disco.

But director Mark S. Hoebee has brought the audience much more - a classic representation of popular music made by black artists in the 1960s and 1970s. "Dreamgirls" is more like an operetta, with hardly more than 10 minutes of dialogue in the whole production. Through the first four scenes, there is only word-jazz and back beat accompanying the musical numbers.

The play focuses on the hopes, aspirations, and metamorphosis of a three-woman-and-songwriter vocal team originally called the "Dreamettes," through the 1960s and 1970s. They are Effie Melody White (Felicia P. Fields) - and her songwriter brother C.C. (John Conrad) - Lorrell Robinson (LaTonya Holmes), and Deena Jones (Angela Robinson).

There is the entire gamut of "it's just showbiz" change in the play. There is conniving, manipulating manager Curtis Taylor Jr. (Lance Roberts), payola, and the constant battle black artists faced - battling ostracism by cracker radio program directors, or selling out for a chance in the mainstream.

Through it all, the "Dreams" thrive and survive, although not without some large pain. Effie is supplanted - as trio leader, and in her relationship with Curtis, by Deena - and later ousted from the group in favor of Michelle Morris (Heather Headley).

Acting, singing, and staging rolled flawlessly. Marriott has added some new effects to their performance plant for the '95 season, sure to dazzle audiences. Main male performer James Thunder Early (Marshall Titus) convinced this reviewer that he was the twin of still-living Godfather of Soul, James Brown.

While the first act bristled and shouted with outstanding music and choreography, it ended on a lament by Effie that was far too long. Starting out as a pained, touching soliloquy on her breakup with Curtis - and her relegation to backup for Deena - "(And I'm Telling You) I'm Not Going" went on long enough to become a dirge.

After that, Effie seemed to lose both her voice and spirit. She regained her spirit in the latter part of the second act, but her voice was husky, and not nearly so fine-tuned. If you can get by that, you will love this show, and all its performers, Fields included.

"Dreamgirls" was loud, brassy, and true. For that, it gets 4.5 out of 5 stars. It lost something valuable on that last song in the first act, but harkened back to that transistor radio in 1965, and the nights spent listening to the Temptations, the Supremes, and YIKES - Pat Boone singing "Ain't That a Shame." "Dreamgirls" runs through April 2, and tickets are now available at Ticket Express for the Feb. 24, 8 p.m. performance. —by JEFFREY P. BROWN

"True love" is not easy to find, but Raymond and Belle Lascoe on left, found their true love at a 1936 dance, when Raymond was asked to take Belle home. At right, Henry and Gretchen Warren were business acquaintances for many years until they both retired, then they decided to marry and live happily ever after.

Valentine's Day brings many to reminisce about their 'True Love'

JENNIFER WHISENAND
Staff Reporter

Is there a secret to a good relationship and marriage?

Relationships and marriages do not seem to last as long now as they used to.

And is there such a thing as love at first sight or true love?

As Valentine's Day quickly approaches, millions of people will be spending their time with the one's they love, maybe even their "true love."

There are many couples at Hawthorn Lakes of Lake County who have spent their entire lives with their true loves. There are even those who found their true loves later in life, those they waited all their life for.

That is the case with Henry and Gretchen Warren, who have been married for 25 years.

"When I was young and working, women had to quit working when they got married, and I guess I never wanted to give up my job," said Gretchen Warren, 82. "I guess I never fell in love that much to take that chance," she added.

With the hard times during the Depression, many women did not want to give up their jobs to get married. Men and women struggled to find good jobs, making $53 an hour.

This love story started about 10 years before the Warrens were married. Henry and Gretchen worked for the same company, but in different departments and even in different buildings.

Henry was the supervisor in the engineering department and Gretchen was in the accounting department of a construction company in Chicago.

"There were many times we had to confer with one another," said Henry, 84.

"It was natural to call him to get explanations for the auditors that called me," Gretchen said.

Through conversations the two became friends and with some help from a fellow colleague they started dating and eventually got married a year later.

"I wanted to work until it was time for me to retire," said Gretchen. "He fit into my retirement plans," she added.

Gretchen stated that she had many boyfriends, but none she loved enough to quit her job.

"I guess I was waiting for Henry, but I did not know I was," Gretchen said.

The Warrens stated that they learned about each other over the years.

"When he said something about getting married, I was kind of surprised," Gretchen said. "I really could not see any reason not to," she added.

"As far as Gretchen and I are concerned we are as much in love as you can be at 82 and 84 years old," Henry said.

"The secret to any marriage is being considerate and thoughtful to the other person, with their wants and needs. Then you are more apt to have success," Henry said. "That should come naturally," he added.

"We do not get on each other's nerves, we laugh a lot," Gretchen said.

The two do not have children together, but Henry was married before and has a daughter and son, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Gretchen on the other hand, has not missed out on having children around. Her sister had four children and now has eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

"I have not missed out on much, I was involved with them a lot," Gretchen said.

Henry is a graduate of University of Illinois in engineering and Gretchen attended Baylor University in Texas, for three years, then moved to the Twin Cities to be with family.

On the other side of love, it can strike you instantly and you know right from the start that this is the person you are going to marry.

Raymond and Belle Lascoe met in 1936 at a dance hall in Chicago. A friend had given Raymond a ticket to the dance because Raymond did not have a penny to his name. When the dance was over Raymond's friend asked him to take two women home. One of them was Belle.

Raymond had just enough money to get the two girls and himself home on the El.

"I knew from the moment I met her, I would marry her," Raymond said.

"I graduated from the University of Illinois and began looking for a job, which took six months," said Raymond. "Then I met Belle. On the second date I told her I was going to marry her," he added.

"I knew she was my kind of girl," Raymond said.

The Lascoes have been married for 58 1/2 years, which have been filled with See LOVE page B13

More Europe By Rail

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Last week we talked about the benefits of rail travel in Europe, as well as the various types of Eurail passes. Today we're going to continue with rail travel tips.

Since meeting other travelers is one of the reasons I enjoy travel in Europe, I usually travel by day. However, when I do make an overnight run, I'll choose a "Couchette" which, at about $30, costs much less than a private sleeping compartment or even a hotel room.

For your $30, you get one of 6 berths in a compartment stacked three high on either side. You also get a blanket encased in a sheet-bag and a pillow. What you don't get is privacy, since the compartments are not even segregated by sexes. Bring your sweat-suit.

When boarding, make sure you're in the right car, not just on the correct train.

Train-splitting is the key to efficiency of Europe's rail system. On even short trips, you may find your train split and your car transferred to another train.

Finding the correct car is very easy, since most stations have picture charts illustrating the composition of the various trains and indicating where to board each car number.

Also, make sure you are ready to board when your train arrives. Unlike trains in the U.S., Europe's trains arrive, and depart on time.

As I mentioned last week, even with a Eurail pass, reservations are required for only certain high-speed trains. You can, however, make reservations on any train. A good idea if you want to be sure of a window seat, a seat that faces forward, a non-smoking seat, or, during busy travel times, to have a seat at all. There is a cost (about $7) for a reservation and it must be at least 24 hours in advance. Just look for the counter with a square sign with a picture of a train seat. Do not go to the ticket counter. In fact, with your Eurail pass, you'll never have to stand in the ticket line.

Finally, some tips on eating on a train.

While some trains have dining cars, reservations must be made before boarding. Most have a cart offering sandwiches brought to your seat. I, however, prefer picking up a picnic style lunch at one of the many stands at most train stations. It's a good way to sample local casual cuisine.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Lost in cyberspace—Part I

Remember the Jetsons? Those cartoon characters who lived in a wacky world of electronic gadgets and talked to each other on computer screens? Remember how their world seemed so far out, so futuristic? Don't look now, but we've arrived—in that futuristic world, that is. The age of electronic gadgets and talking computer screens is here.

There's only one thing they forgot to show in that cartoon—you never see the Jetsons reading a manual the size of War and Peace that tells them how to work all those contraptions. So much for electronics making our lives easier. It used to be you could buy a telephone, plug it in the wall and talk. Now we can buy phones with built-in answering machines, memory for phone numbers, and all kinds of bells and whistles. I hear that soon they'll be coming out with one that walks the dog for you, too. The problem is, few of us have time to read the 50-page instruction guide these nifty phones come with.

Not only that, but once you

Kirk Players to perform at Carmel's 'Street Scenes'

The Kirk Players will be performing at Carmel High School's Street Scenes "Rewrites the Fairy Tales" on Feb. 10 and 11. This year's Kirk Player entry, "A Fairly Farical Fabrication of Fairy Tales" takes a look at some favorite fairy tales, but from a different perspective than you heard before!

Doors open at 6:30 p.m. with entertainment and refreshments available all evening. This year, Street Scenes will offer 13 shows and 12 lounge acts, a Midway area with games of skill and a new casino room. Admission is $1250 per person. Kirk Players season ticket holders will be admitted for $6.25 or $12.50 per couple if they present their ticket at the door. Participants must be 21 or older.

actually do figure out how to do things like program your phone so that you can call someone just by pressing one number, you can become too used to this type of convenience. For example, a "cube neighbor" of mine at work, Brian, told me a funny story about his wife. Apparently, she had her phone programmed so that all she had to do was push the memory button labeled number "1" to call her mother, whom she spoke with often. One day, she pressed "1" and got a wrong number. She tried it again, more carefully this time. Still the wrong number. So she called the phone company.

Phone Company: "How can we help you?"

Brian's Wife: "I keep getting the wrong number."

Phone Company: "What number are you dialing?"

Brian's Wife: "Number one."

Phone Company: "No, the phone number."

Brian's Wife: "That's it. Number one. I have it programmed in the phone."

Phone Company: "Ma'am, what is the actual phone number? We can't help you without it."

Brian's Wife: "Gee, I...I don't remember. It's been so long since I had to dial it!"

Another so-called convenience gadget is the fax machine.

Whose bright idea was that? Did it make our lives easier? Heck no, it just speeded things up. Gone are the days when you could promise to send someone a proposal and then, when they didn't receive it on time, give them the old "perhaps it got lost in the mail" excuse. If it weren't for fax machines, we'd have even better fibs today. "You didn't get it yet? I'll bet it's in a bag under a bridge somewhere! You know the post office!" But no, someone had to invent a contraption that gives you no room for laziness or procrastination. Now, that same client wants the proposal in two hours, and when he doesn't get it, he's on the phone immediately. "Did you send the fax? Did you, did you, did you?"

And he's not going to believe that fax is lost under any bridges, either. You're going to have to tell him the truth. "OK. The fact is, I don't know how to work the fax machine. I got it 3 months ago, and I'm only on page 152 of the 'Easy Guide to Faxing' manual. So, far I've learned how to plug it in. Call me in another 3 months. Maybe by then I'll get to the chapter that tells you how to send the fax."

Next week's topic—Computers. A guide to understanding computer terminology, written especially for the "cyberspatially challenged."

Good Food Try romantic Valentine treat

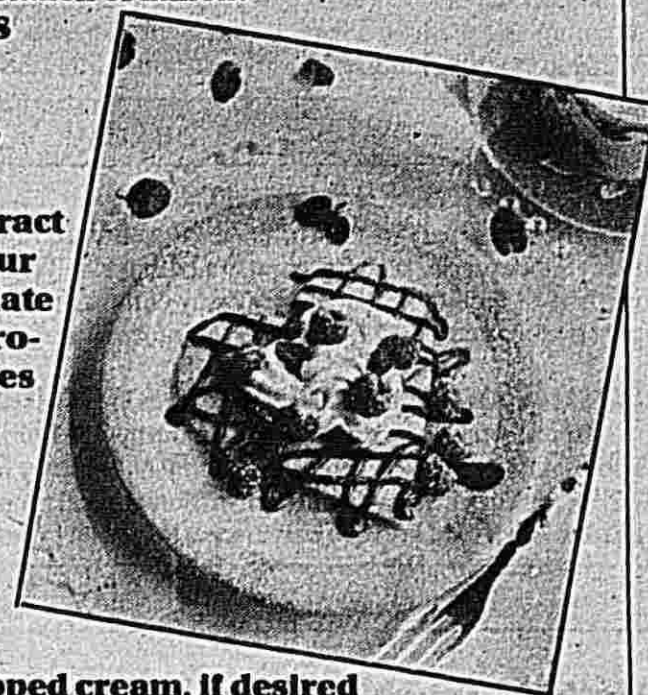

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Add romance to Valentine's Day with these special treats from the American Dairy Association of Illinois.

Shortbread Hearts

1 cup (2 sticks) butter, softened
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 ounces white chocolate baking chips or bar broken into 1/2-inch pieces
2 ounces semisweet chocolate morsels (about 1/3 cup)
Seedless raspberry preserves, if desired
Confectioners sugar, if desired
Sweetened softly whipped cream, if desired
Raspberries, if desired

In large mixer bowl, cream butter light and fluffy. Beat in 1/2 cup sugar and vanilla. Gradually add flour; mix well. Divide dough in half. Wrap each half in plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 1 hour or overnight for easier handling. Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Roll out each half of cookie dough on lightly floured surface to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured heart-shaped cutter; place on unbuttered cookie sheets. Bake 15 to 20 minutes or just until cookies begin to brown. Remove from oven; transfer to wire racks to cool completely.

Meanwhile to melt chocolate, place white chocolate and semi-sweet chocolate in separate, small resealable freezer bags. Close bags. Microwave one at a time, approximately 2 to 3 minutes on medium (50%) just until melted. Knead bag until chocolate is smooth. Cut off very small corner of bag; use bag to pipe or drizzle white and semisweet chocolate over cookies. Spoon raspberry preserves into small resealable freezer bag. Cut off very small corner, pipe preserves onto cookies as desired. Sprinkle lightly with sugar. Serve with whipped cream and raspberries.

Movie Pick

'Sunrise' feel-good love story

Everybody loves a lover; ergo a good love story, done well by actors who play people we care about, is usually a hit.

This has been proven over and over again by a long, age-old list of such successes: "Casablanca," "Pretty Woman," "An Affair to Remember," "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "When Harry Met Sally," "Sleepless in Seattle," etc.

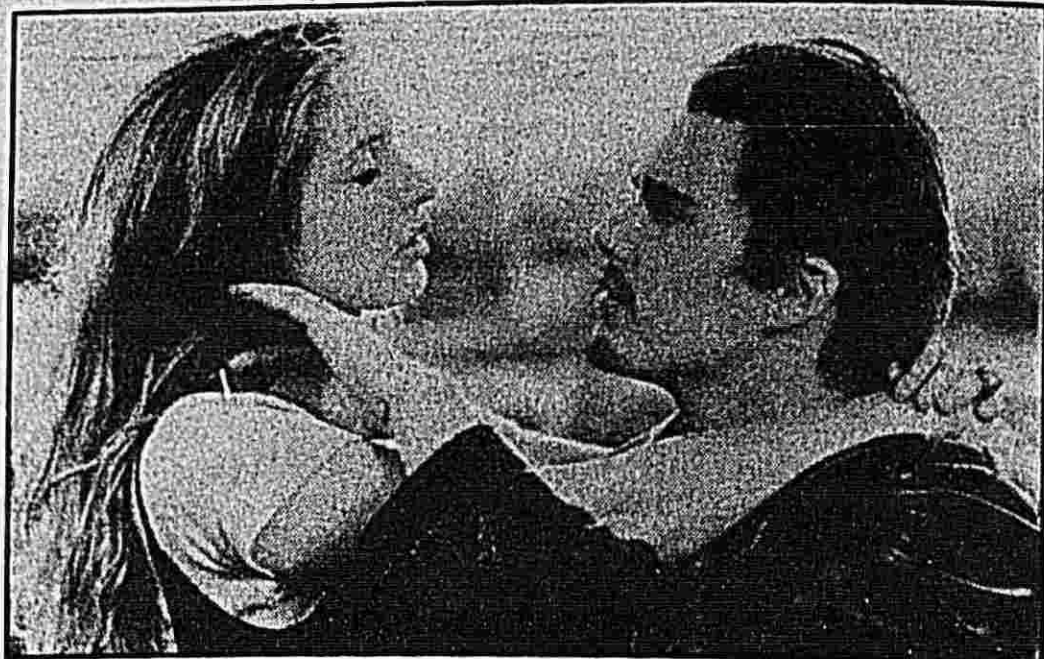

A very '90s version of these, "Before Sunrise," starring Ethan Hawk and French import, Julie Delpy, is our bid for the next addition to that list.

Our lovers meet on a European train, and when she sits across from him the chemistry between the two as he catches her eye explodes and the after-shocks keep the rest of the movie rolling romantically.

In trying to talk her into getting off the train and spending a few days and nights taking in Vienna, Hawk uses the ploy that if they don't they'll never know what they missed. To cap off his persuasiveness, he adds that if it doesn't work out, at least they'll know they would have missed nothing.

What follows is the usual romantic walks, romantic sight-seeing exploits, romantic bus rides, etc. Nothing is new, but everything is new because that's how these two make one feel, almost as if they themselves were having the affair.

Maybe one difference in this romantic adventure is the arresting continual conversation that is carried on by Hawk and Delpy, full of interesting and witty remarks. The conversation gives the audience an insight to two people who are not just a man and woman working towards sex.

Of course, the excellent photography of one of the most sentimentally picturesque places in the world gets a lot of credit for the erotic mood the audience is pulled into.

Delpy is maiden innocence personified, yet with an undercurrent of sensuality, and Hawk every woman's sex fantasy. What more could a love story ask for. Plot? Don't be silly!

This is the latest date pic, and we give it four out of five stars, for supplying a couple hours of escape and plain feel-good emotion-filled fantasy.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Ninth annual Benny Bash a sell out

The ninth annual Benny Birthday Bash sold out all 200 seats at Bonnie Brook Club House in Waukegan.

The event is the annual endowment scholarship fund raiser presented by the Friends of the Jack Benny Center for the Arts.

The Bash featured the presentation of the 1995 Jack Benny Arts and Humanities Award to Dr. Jules and Elaine Altenberg of Waukegan.

Following the award presentation, the audience was treated to a grand buffet. During the buffet an audience participation murder mystery was presented, specially written by Geri Whitson and Norma Cribb.

Money raised from the event is placed in an endowment account. The interest generated from the account is used to help students in financial need at the Jack Benny Center. Over the course of approximately 10 years, the endowment has grown to nearly $40,000.

Love

compromise and giving.

"Marriage is not 'What's in it for me?'" Belle said. "If he is happy, I'm happy, and I think he feels the same," she added.

Raymond joked it is very easy to get along with one another, "I just say 'yes dear.'" Belle said that was not true.

"It's a million and one things that make people happy in a marriage," said Raymond.

Some things mentioned were economics, cooking, doing things together and mutual friends.

Over the many years the Lascoes have traveled to many countries visiting and even living there. For seven years they resided in Germany, where they helped rebuild a city called Pforzheim, after WWII.

During the war, Belle traveled with Raymond wherever he went.

Belle said they grew together rather than growing apart, during the years.

"In all of our marriage, the thought of divorce never occurred to me," said Raymond.

"I might get mad at her at times, but I would never think of divorcing her, because it costs too much," Raymond laughed.

Raymond said his philosophy is to save her a step.

Everything is shared in the Lascoes home from dishes to cleaning the floors.

Belle stated that marriage is not what you get, it is what you give. She believes that is true in any relationship.

The Lascoes have one son, Bertrand, 40, who resides in Libertyville.

The secret to a successful marriage appears to be simple—It seems that compromising, entertainment and a lot of joking and laughing are the solutions to a successful marriage.

The band Uncle Jess and The Stardusters (from left: Barry Wood, Uncle Jess Lloyd and Rich Eldridge) play for diners at Frigate's in Ingleside. The band will be playing every Saturday from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. indefinitely. Photo by Todd F. Helsler

Frigate's Restaurant offers musical dining

An Ingleside restaurant is offering its Saturday evening diners a special entertainment treat.

Every Saturday from 6 to 9 p.m., diners at Frigate's, 25250 W. Lake Shore Drive, can relax to the musical sounds of a three-piece band, Uncle Jess and the Stardusters.

"The music is very unassuming and low key. The diners can still have a conversation," said Ralph Sabatini, one of the restaurant's owners. He said diners are also welcome to get up and enjoy a dance if they wish.

The Sabatini family has been offering music to dine by for about one year and it's been very well received by area diners.

Uncle Jess and the Stardusters plays a variety of Big Band music as well as music by artists such as Tony Bennett, Frank Sinatra and Perry Como.

The music is especially enjoyed by many of the mature diners who come to enjoy Frigate's senior citizen specials which cost $7.95 and include a cocktail.

But according to Sabatini, the younger diners enjoy the mellow music also. "Live entertainment is still a unique thing for dining in this area," he noted.

The Sabatinis got the idea for live entertainment, when Uncle Jess & the Stardusters played for a private party at the restaurant. They enjoyed the music so much they decided to make the band a regular Saturday evening feature.

And after the band leaves the stage at 9 p.m., Frigate's keeps the music going with a D.J.—by CLAUDIA M. LENART

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You may be making changes in a home improvement plan. Pressing career matters could keep you from spending as much time as you'd like with family members. Make up for this over the weekend and lavish some attention on relatives.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You're on the same wave length as a business partner and will accomplish much this week. However, you find it hard to get some people to understand your goals. Guard against any quarrels.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You'll be able to bring a career project to a successful conclusion. However, where money interests are concerned, there's an inclination to quarrel with your significant other.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's one of those weeks when if you don't phone on time, a partner will become upset. Be sure to keep others abreast of your comings and goings. Doing so contributes much to peace.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) If a project is slow-going this week, try not to lose your temper. Not everyone is as quick-thinking as you. Later in the week, you feel a bit too busy and will welcome the weekend's chances for enjoyable quiet time.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You'll have a meaningful dialogue with a friend this week which leads to new career opportunities. However, some social plans are subject to last-minute changes. Someone you deal with is temperamental.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Being in two places at once is not your forte this week. Though matters pertaining to career will run smoothly, some home concerns may be left unattended. The weekend is a good time to catch up with this.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Though you're certain in your convictions, this week is not the best time for getting your viewpoints across to others. Stay clear of those who love to disagree. Such people are part of the problem, not the solution.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The week brings some positive business and financial developments. However, you could find yourself in a heated discussion about a mutual monetary concern. Family members provide solace.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your desire to do your own thing may not sit well with a close tie who would like to spend some time with you this week. Try to be more accommodating in order to avoid a messy quarrel. Compromise works.

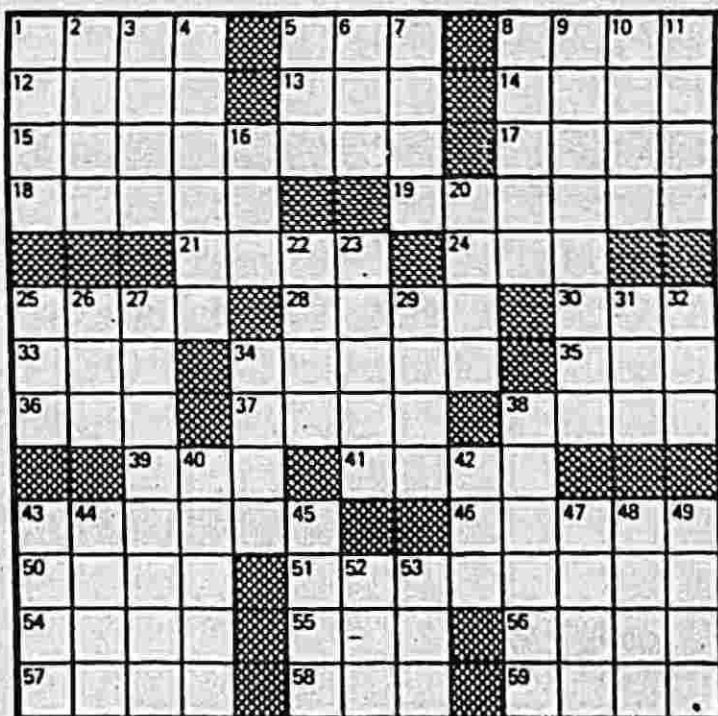

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) There could be a few false starts on the job this week but a project will get off the ground by week's end. It's possible that you'll be asked to put in extra hours over the weekend as a result. This pays off.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Though it's a busy time for you on the social scene now, the week is not without its dissatisfactions. A friend could prove to be a bit overbearing and opinionated. Avoid this person for now.

An Area Guide to Home Design, Remodeling and Real Estate

Above, a steep incline of stairs leads up to the back of the house from Fox Lake. Below, Mickey and Gerry Mandel at the piano in their living room.

Mandel home chock full of memories

When you come upon the Mandel home from their driveway at 200 E. Grand Ave. in Fox Lake, you get the impression of a nice middle-class home. But once you enter the home, middle-class are not the words you would use to describe it. Eclectic, maybe. Interesting, unusual, airy, and pleasing are definite adjectives.

Gerry and Mickey Mandel bought the home from Ray and Norma Bourbon 16 years ago and found out that the home was built originally in 1910, and that it was probably built as a cottage with no indoor plumbing. They discovered through remodeling that the home was involved in a fire around 1920, when the second floor and additional rooms were added. Throughout the years, this home has been through so many changes that the original builders wouldn't even recognize it.

Once the Mandels occupied the home, more changes were imminent. They have filled the home with mementos from their many travels throughout five continents, and added an indoor pool along with other physical changes to make their house a joy to come home to.

Mickey explained that they bought the home because of the great view of Mineola Bay, but more importantly, "there was room for Gerry's piano!" It seems the piano was purchased by Gerry's father and delivered on the day Gerry was born, and when Gerry and Mickey were married, the piano came with them. It sits, rather regally, in the corner of their roomy living room.

Vibrant colors surround you throughout the home. Different wallpaper designs are featured, and although the designs are completely different from one room to the next, something clicks. You come to realize that the way the Mandels decorated their home is an outward expression of their individual personalities. Both Gerry and Mickey are as bright and vibrant as the colors in their home.

Gerry and Mickey are both involved in a great deal with the theater. Mickey directs shows at both Grant High School and PM & L Theater in Antioch. Gerry serves as president of PM & L. "I couldn't do it without Gerry's help," said Mickey. When they're not involved with their hobby, the Mandels are running their business, Schaumburg Limousine, which just celebrated its 25th anniversary. The Mandels have three grown children and five grandchildren who vary in ages from 2-1/2 to 15.

As you enter the home, you walk into a small

101 decorating styles and only one room

We've all been there—in that room that seems to hold everything but says nothing. The problem: no central decorating style. It can be difficult to select just one theme when you and your family are so diverse and the room has evolved over many years through many stages. In this article, we will shed a little light on the concept of themes, how they evolved, and what they communicate.

Throughout the centuries, thematic design has been influenced by history, ethnicity, environmental consciousness, and emotion. Historic themes, for example, developed from our need to preserve a period in time. With a period theme, we value the craftsmanship of times gone by, reflecting perhaps upon the lifestyle of those times. Today's furniture pieces can be a true to form replica of actual pieces, or may adapt certain elements of a period in a more practical, useful way.

Eclectic themes are a combination of many styles. However, when creating an eclectic room design, you walk a fine line between charm and chaos. Harmony must never be forgotten when combining a variety of period pieces. The result can be an eye-catching, exciting room.

Country design evolved from the simple, handcrafted furnishings of colonial times. We think of the little house on the prairie with its beamed ceilings and braided rugs on a wooden plank floor. Country furnishings are unsophisticated, but none the less charming. Wood, pewter, brass, and wrought iron are popular materials for country accessorizing.

Country design is not to be confused with English country, a theme with a more palatial trademark. English country boasts a lived in look and features finely crafted furnishings of historic periods. Walls are often paneled or covered in rich textures, and windows are heavily draped in damasks or floral prints. The look is elegant, but well-worn and loved.

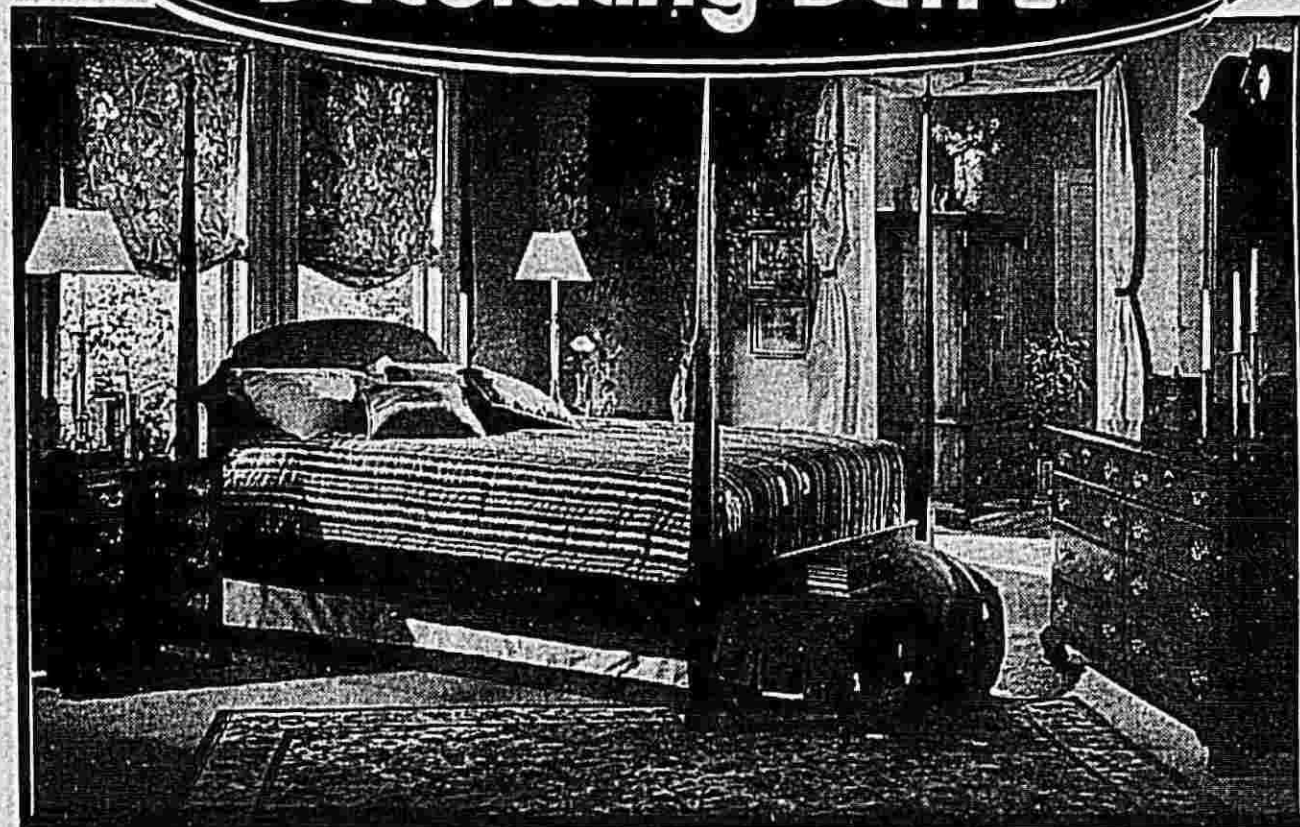

There are so many themes and so little room to discuss them all in one article. Your favorite may not have been touched upon.

However, the point is to determine which style is "you" and stick to it in your decorating scheme. Consistency is key in effective decorating, whether it be consistently eclectic or consistently vernacular.

And when you know what your ultimate goal is for a room, you will have that much more fun when you are out and you make that special find to complete your decorating.

LIPSERVICE

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (708) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Send cards there

In your Feb. 2 Lipservice, "Can you use?", a woman asked where she might send greeting cards. Tell her to call the Brothers of Marytown, 367-7800, or Santa Maria Parish, 949-8300. Both of these places collect cards, as well as canceled stamps for the missionaries.

Hate the billboards

I'm calling regarding another one of those atrocious billboards put up on Rollins Rd. near Squaw Creek. Not only did they erect this monstrosity along our peaceful countryside, they then proceeded to savagely cut down every mature tree around the sign. No trimming, just cut down to the ground. I, for one, will not patronize any of the businesses that advertise there.

NAFTA a bad idea

I think NAFTA was a terrible idea and now it's showing. We should've seen this coming. $40 billion Mexico wants to bail them out. I say, forget the bailout and buy them. Just add them on like we did Alaska!

Computer scandal

As a Round Lake resident, I would like some information regarding the allegations involving School Board President Jim Hult and the computer scandal charge. If indeed you are guilty, Mr. Hult, be a man and admit it. Quit having your followers cover up for you and resign!

Cuts, not raises

I'd like to know why the Antioch High School board wants to hire a man 51 years old for more money than the past superintendent's salary. And he can retire for early retirement in a year at age 52 with a bonus, or at 55 for full benefits. If I'm right, they also intend to furnish a car. When I worked, I wasn't furnished a car and when I retired, it was at 65. And just think, now they're raising it to 67, and later 70. So we'd better start speaking up and start making cuts instead of raises and giving cars.

Leave me alone!

I'm really worried about the educational level of people who live in Lake Zurich. During the day I do not want to be disturbed since I'm working. People come to my door even though there's a no soliciting sign and ring the doorbell. Don't they know what that means? They even walk all over my flower beds and expect me to buy something from them. Get real!

Bonds a rip-off

I'm directing this to all Lake County elected officials on both the state and federal levels. I think the U.S. government is ripping us all off that turn in savings bonds. How come you have to pay tax on something that's supposed to be earned? Because they're using our money! They should make all savings bonds non-taxable interest at the federal level. Let's see some legislation on this. Otherwise, if I have to pay money on something that you guys are giving me, you're just taking it all back. I might as well burn the savings bonds and let you keep the $18.

What about future?

I'm angry about the village of Lake Zurich encouraging people to stay home and watch television and burn wood in their fireplaces. Don't they care about people's futures and the future of our children? Pollution from smoke contributes to global warming and we have to remember that overuse and overpopulation resulted in the Garden of Eden becoming a desert!

No tailgating!

Anyone have the pleasure of riding through Johnsburg at night recently? If so, were you escorted through the town by Johnsburg's finest? I had this pleasure, and in fact, the officer in question was so close I could actually see the officer's face in my rear view mirror. If this kind of harassment is the way Johnsburg police protect and serve, something needs to be done. You can't break the laws and try to trap someone into doing something wrong. If you can't trust the police not to harass you when you're doing nothing wrong, whom can you trust?

No way to go

This is for all of the people who are writing in about abortion and should it or shouldn't it be? I'm here to tell you from someone who had one. It's not the way to go. I have been haunted ever since about what the baby would have been, how it would have fit in my life. It just so happens that the father was in prison for attempted murder and rape of someone else. I decided it was best not to have the child for many reasons and I regret the decision and will until the day I die. For you people out there who are pregnant, think before you get an abortion. Have the baby and give it a chance!

Babies welcome

I can answer your question. When you take into account all the deaths that occur each year in the U.S. from gang and drug related violent crimes, terminal illness, as well as the number of people who die of old age, the population evens itself out. I welcome the number of babies that will be born this year!

You'll be thankful

This is to the caller who said that having an abortion was a hard decision to make and no fun. Do you think it was a picnic for the unborn child whose life was ended forever without having any say in the matter? Hindsight is 20/20 and if you keep your baby instead of aborting, you will be so thankful because you'll experience the greatest love and most rewarding feeling from having sacrificed your wants and needs for their child. Believe me, they will thank you later for allowing them their right to live.

Do some research

For all you pro-choicers, I suggest a trip to the library to research the various cruel and gruesome techniques used during an abortion. A woman doesn't usually know she's pregnant until she's already 4 to 6 weeks along. By this time, a baby's nerve endings are forming and they can experience pain. Educate yourself about what you are defending. You just might change your mind.

No right to kill

Wow, isn't it great to live in a disposable, quick fix society? It's so wonderful that we don't have to be held responsible for our actions or pay consequences for mistakes that we make. Hey, it's your body and you can do what to it, right? Wrong! Euthanasia and suicide are illegal. If you're not allowed to kill yourself, then why should you have the right to kill your unborn child? If you don't want to get pregnant, then don't have sex, or please use one of the many forms of birth control available today.

No thanks to ...

In response to comments about a senior citizen in the Wauconda area looking for a place to play cards. Someone responded they should check out Harmony Village since they're going to have a senior services and recreation building in Phase 2, complimenting them for doing so. However, as I recall, the developer wanted to demolish the building and add a few more trailers. It was the village board members that encouraged them to leave the buildings up and use them as rec centers. It's not the developers who were thinking of the residents!

Their prerogative

This is for Mayor Jim Eschenbach, who felt it was necessary to make a spectacle of the leadership of the village of Wauconda in regard to the Cambridge Development in the attacks he made on trustees and their decisions based two years ago. There's been a number of times when Mayor Eschenbach may have changed his mind on issues, and how many times has he validated why he changed his mind? Also, it goes without saying that a quality trustee will know the facts such as stormwater and wetland ordinances that have been changed in the last two years that benefit the developer and not the environment. So once again, thank you, Mr. Eschenbach for recognizing the good qualities in your trustees and not supporting them in making new decisions based on new information based on current facts.

Get involved!

Many times I wonder how many callers who complain actually do something more than yack negatively. How many of them actually get involved with what they speak of? If it's schools, have you volunteered your time to see how an active school day evolves and see how you can make a change? If it's community activities, have you gotten away from the TV or telephone long enough to see what's happening in your own subdivision? Have you attended subdivision meetings to give your ideas and see how you can make a difference? Have you made the time See LIPSERVICE page B24 to see how your child is running through the streets getting into God knows what? If you can say yes to these questions, I congratulate you. You are a doer, not a yacker. You are one of the very few. Too many people want to sit back and relay the message on how others can do the job. It's time to get a life, get out there, and see what you can do to make a difference.

Vote 'no' April 4

To parents of all of Hawthorn School students in Vernon Hills, please vote no for the referendum on April 4. It will not change anything. This school is so overrated, it's sickening. We should start to make changes in the administration starting with Dr. Noyes, Jeff Perez, and the principals from the middle and junior high schools. Let's hire someone who knows how to run a school district. In two years, they'll be asking for more money to build an addition due to overcrowding. Let's start now and vote no!

Need lights?

To Susie McCall in Vernon Hills, instead of wasting thousands of dollars on the stupid Christmas lights at the Cuneo estate, why didn't they give that money to the school district to help out? Let's practice some common sense when it comes to money!

Deadline extended

I'd like to inform the people of Antioch that they've extended the property tax relief deadline for people over 65 and have household incomes of $35,000 or less annually. The deadline was Jan. 20, but has been extended to Feb. 15 to freeze your property tax on your valuation. I do hope people read this and do file as it is an advantage for them!

Missed the point

I'm the caller who said 'safe alternative.' In response to the person who thinks I'm narrow-minded, you're nuts. You're missing the whole point. If you would quit butting into everyone's lives, there wouldn't be a problem. Try minding your own business once in a while. As for your adoption crack, there's hundreds of kids out there now who need adopting. I don't see you racing to do it. And what if they do? Some bonehead in the Supreme Court will overturn everything and decide to give the child back to some idiot who decides they want their kid back. Don't shoot your mouth off. Mind your own business and everyone will be happy.

Re-districting no help

Hey, Antioch, wake up! If you think the re-districting of Lake Villa/Lindenhurst is going to help our schools, it's not! If you think your taxes are high now, you ain't seen nothin' yet! If Lake Villa/Lindenhurst leaves, who's going to pick up those tax dollars we need to run our schools? We're going to be left with fewer students and still inadequate buildings. When the informational meetings start, go to them so you know what you're voting on. This will also affect real estate values on your home. Real estate in Antioch is not selling!

Procedure changed

I'm responding to the lady who wanted to know about paying her Ameritech bill in Antioch. I think she'll find it difficult to pay anywhere since Ameritech has changed their procedure. If a company takes in checks for the phone bill, they are supposed to be made out to them, not Ameritech. Consequently, the business would be responsible for bounced checks, which is totally unfair to the business. Therefore, they all pulled the opportunity to take checks for Ameritech and left all us customers with no option except to put a stamp on the bill and send it to Ameritech. If Ameritech would change their policies, we would all be inconvenienced instead of inconvenienced!

An inconvenience

My children go to District 118 in Wauconda. I just read about the changes for the new start and end of school. I think it's ridiculous. I don't see how they think people can work. I have small children and by 9 o'clock my kids are wound up and have played hard and need to go down for a nap. How can they expect to go into school at 9 o'clock and stay away until 3:30 or 4:30 when they get off the school bus? To the boards of the Wauconda Park District and the school board of District 118, who do you all know? Who's holding each other's hand? It seems that the only one who's benefiting out of this whole thing is the park district. Their enrollment in after-school programs is going to increase dramatically so people can work. I don't believe the board gave this enough thought. This is going to be a hardship for too many people. I do believe yes, that something could have been done, so there wasn't the lag time of 30-40 minutes at the high school. Perhaps another class? I think our kids can use more education, don't you?

Wake up

In response to 'Overcrowded,' I do agree with you that Island Lake is the reason that the Wauconda school district is overcrowded, but let's look at past records of Island Lake. They will never take responsibility for doing anything wrong. If you've driven down 176 lately towards Cotton Creek school, you'll notice they've started to dredge a portion of the lake out. They didn't feel it was necessary to wait for the proper approval from the Army Corps of Engineers. That's how they run things and how they'll continue to run things unless the people of Island Lake wake up and get these people out of office!

Lipservice boring

I have one thing to say, what happened to Lipservice? I think all the subject matter is getting old. I think people should lighten up and talk about more important things!

Thanks police

For the drunk that finally got his DUI a couple of weeks ago. I'm so glad the police finally caught you before you could kill somebody. Thanks to the police department of Johnsbury!

Convince me

Regarding the tax referendum in April, I am all for schools and think teachers are underpaid. The students need to have smaller class sizes. We need to support the teachers and students, but I'm not convinced the money they're asking for is well-spent. I'm shocked that the union for Dist. 46 does not get on the bandwagon and help cut the fat in the administration. There's so much wasted money with administrators' salaries, offices, and buildings. Money is not being filtered to teachers and students. I'd like to be convinced by April that this money will be spent on giving teachers a better salary, not on the administration, kickbacks, or a bunch of fluff. If I'm convinced, you have my support, but right now you don't.

Get Davis back

Come on parents from Spring Grove school and Richmond-Burton High School, let's unite. Let's send out a petition to try to get Mary Davis back from Round Lake. The people over there don't seem to want her, but she did wonders over here. I'd hate to see Mr. Drusak take over as superintendent in place of Dr. Erdman. We'll miss him, he did a lot for our schools. Now I'd like to get someone in that position that can do even more for our schools. I think Davis is the candidate. Round Lake doesn't want her, but we do!

Twice blessed

This is for 'Can your answer.' You are obviously not involved in any of the efforts to provide care for mothers and children of crisis pregnancies, or you would know that there are, contrary to your misinformed opinion, ten prospective adoptive families for every baby placed for adoption. I am a woman who considered abortion many years ago. A woman who had been through it talked me out of it because of her heartache. I'm eternally grateful to her. This was the only baby I have ever conceived and I love him dearly. Later when I decided to have more, it was too late. We have adopted a medically handicapped child, and have seen many of our friends do the same. Others of our friends wait in heartbreak for a chance to adopt. We have been blessed from both sides of the issue, and you are only fooling yourself if you think people can legislate God out of their lives. I, for one, am grateful for his grace in showing me his ways are better than mine.

Upstart Antioch gains one of big goals: beats Warren

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

You can call it the Next Game Syndrome.

Basketball teams with emotional victories can either A) come down and play well the next game to keep the winning streak going or B) falter against a usually weaker or equal opponent.

If one is from Antioch, it was a fortunate thing the second scenario occurred after Warren High had downed a depleted but top-ranked Stevenson team by 10 points earlier.

If one is from Gurnee, Warren's 55-53 overtime loss Saturday to Antioch was a bitter reminder about celebrating too much.

"I warned them for four days to come off Cloud Nine but we never did," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said.

The Blue Devils came to Antioch with full expectations of Campbell coming home with career win No. 300 under his belt. That had to wait for Tuesday's contest at home with Zion-Benton.

"I just wanted to make it," Erin O'Connell of Antioch said of an overtime free throw. "One of our goals was to beat one of the top three teams in the North Suburban. That felt good."

The Sequoits were without Rachel Hauser and Mary Ipsen, their two leading scorers. That is not exactly the same as Stevenson without Tauja and Tamika Catchings, but Antioch still had to make adjustments.

"Everyone was a little scared, but after the first quarter (a 14-11 Antioch lead), I knew something good was going to happen," O'Connell said.

Something good took the form of No. 32 for Antioch. Dana Pierson scored 20 points to lead the upset, including 4 in the 7-5 overtime run.

Defensively, Antioch held Julie Minuskin to 10 points and she fouled out late in the fourth.

"I thought we would have a chance if we could stop Julie and Felicia (Sartin, 14 points). We gave up the wing because we wanted to stop Julie's penetration and dishing off," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

"We told Dana before the game that she would have to shoot the ball more. We wanted to go to a lot of high percentage shots, which we got," Woods said.

The Sequoits, 7-7 NSC and 9-13 overall, accomplished one of their major goals with two remaining as the regular season winds down: fourth in the NSC and a regional title. Antioch is the fifth seed at the Stevenson sectional. They concluded the regular season at Stevenson Thursday.

The Sequoits host Grayslake, the No. 12 seed, Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Warren, 18-4 overall, had its biggest lead in the second quarter. The Blue Devils' press harassed Antioch into turnovers and Minuskin (twice) and Amy Jensen converted for a 23-16 lead, capping a 12-2 run.

Antioch regained composure in the second period, cutting the gap to one as Pierson was open on a weakside move. Minuskin and Jodi Botsford helped calm a 0-7 shooting slump, but the lead was cut three on a bucket by Lyndsay Hladnik (4 points).

Minuskin's layup, off an Antioch turnover, gave Warren a 30-24 lead but a free throw made it 30-25 at halftime.

Antioch dominated the third quarter's later stages. O'Connell hit two free throws and Carrie Gofron (10 points) gave Antioch a 39-36 lead with 1:58 left. Warren had another bad shooting quarter, 3-of-12.

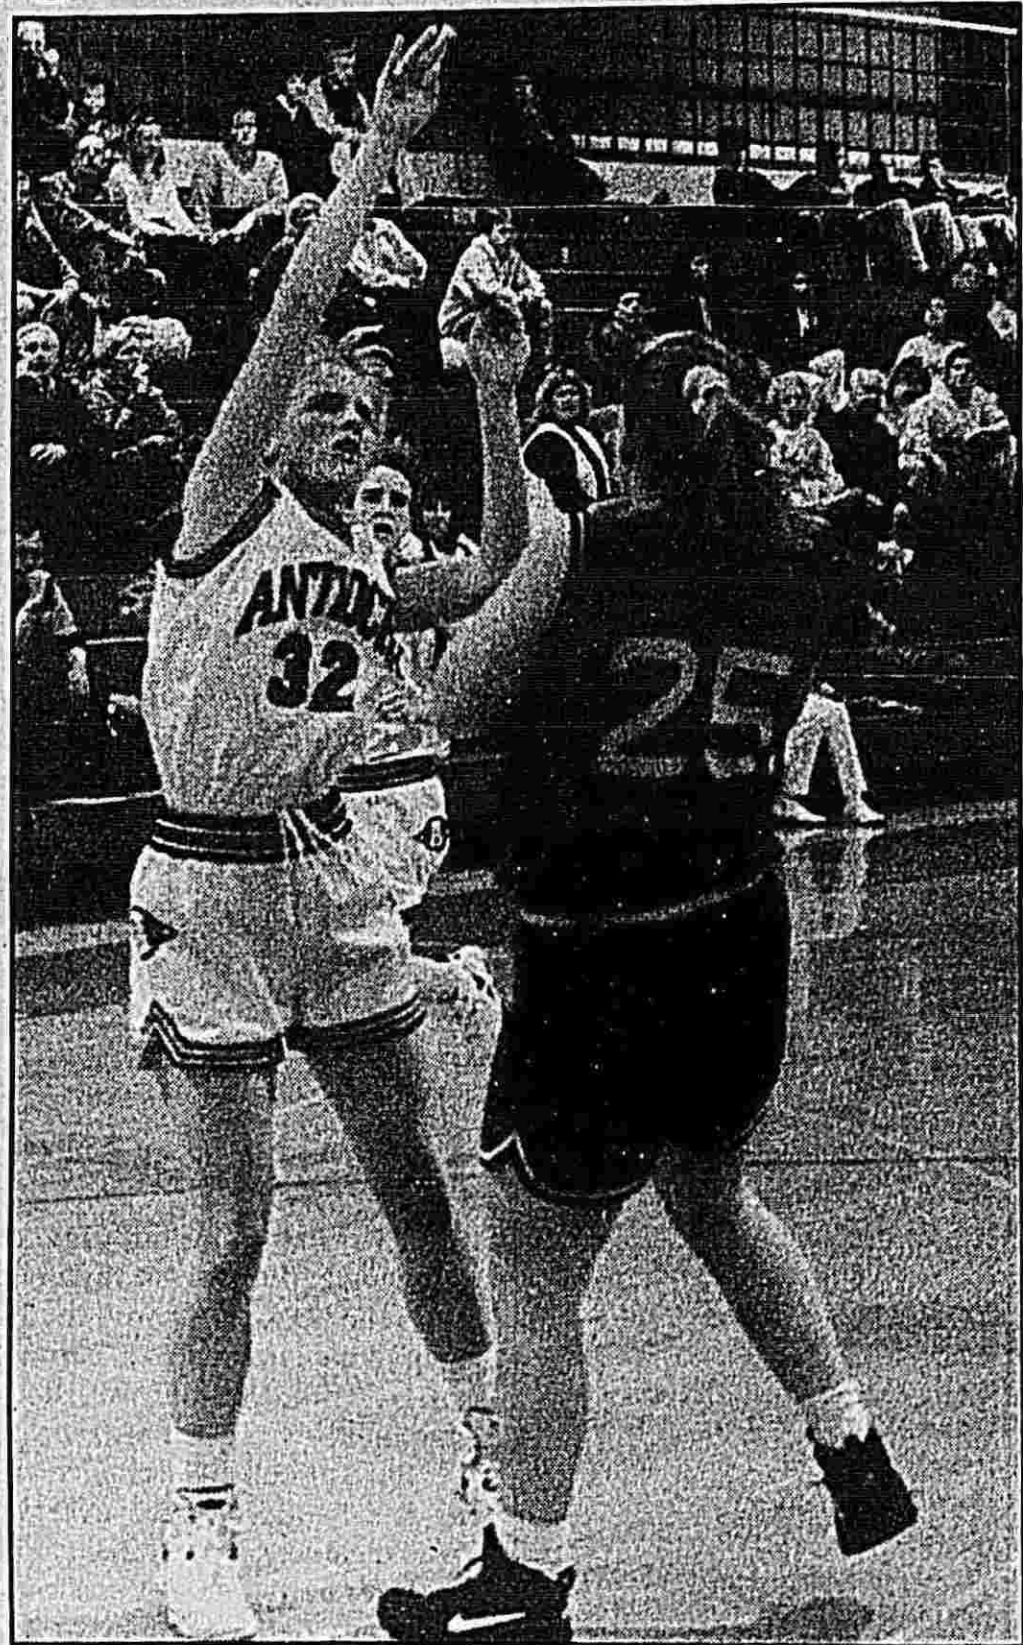

Antioch had its last lead of the game at 48-46 on a Pierson free throw, but Tracy Fiedler (12 points) sent the game into overtime.

Amy Van Camp scored on a steal and layup for Warren to open the session, but the three guard offense could not penetrate the Antioch defenses. A tip-in by Hladnik gave Antioch a 54-53 lead and after Warren could not execute on two possessions, O'Connell hit the free throw.

As for the injury front, Ipsen is out for the year while Hauser may be back for the Grayslake game.

All in all, not a bad day's work for a team with two sophomores and two freshmen.

Until that Tuesday encounter with Zion, make that No. 299 and holding. Warren, the No. 3 seed in the Stevenson sectional, concluded the regular season by hosting Libertyville Thursday. Warren hosts Grant Feb. 13 in the first round.

Dyer (Luke of Antioch) in a dual meet. Our sectional will be tough with Woodstock, Hersey and Fremd. The 103 pound weight class will be loaded," Grant Coach Dave Kapraun said of Estrada.

Senior Smith started wrestling on the varsity only since Christmas. He competed in only 9 matches before regional, winning five.

"I thought I could make at least third. Mark Barczak (football coach) started working with me," Smith said.

Kapraun is impressed with Smith's progress. "He is just a good athlete," he said. Smith is a fullback for the Bulldogs.

Wally Reyes gained a second-place and a sectional bid at 130- as the Grant wrestler lost to Waukegan's Rhome Ray Gozun 13-3 at 130 pound title match.

Kapraun was satisfied with his team's showing.

Waukegan won the team title with 174.5 points. Warren gained the second spot in the dual meet Tuesday with a 160. Antioch, which had been second, settled for third with 146. Grant was sixth with 67, edging Grayslake's 66. Round Lake had 42 and North Chicago had 7 points.

the eighth seed as both teams faced off against each other Tuesday night in a non-conference match.

What is more, the pairings for the first-round regional games will not be announced until later in the month, but Antioch and Lake Zurich are likely to play each other in the first-round game. Generally, the No. 1 seed hosts No. 16 and No. 2 hosts No. 15 and so on.

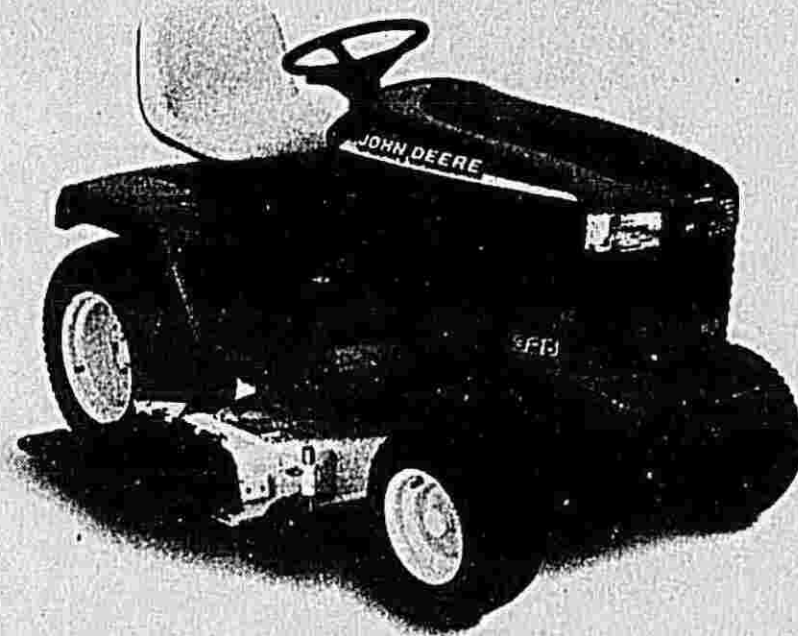

"We both have to take a look at each other," Dresser said before the Feb. 7 game against Lake Zurich. "They shoot very well from the outside, but it will be a feeling-out process and then we'll make adaptations after that."

Dresser also pointed to the success of the Antioch girls basketball team gaining the No. 5 seed in its 16-team regional ranking as an indicator that the Antioch sports program is on an upswing. The Lady Sequoits host No. 12 Grayslake Feb. 13 in the first round of the girls basketball regional.

"I think this is a big thing for our school," Dresser said, "and I think it says a lot about the direction of where the two programs are going."

Sequoits defeat Lake Zurich, 62-48

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

In probably one of the most important non-conference matches of the year, the Antioch boys basketball team proved it was deserving of its eighth regional seed when they defeated Lake Zurich 62-48.

Although at the time Antioch posted a 9-10 record versus Lake Zurich's 11-7 record, both teams tied in ranking for the eighth seed. After a second vote by coaches, Antioch edged Lake Zurich and earned the right to host the first round game of the regional later in the month.

Putting regional ranking aside, Antioch proved its worthiness of the home game privilege on the court by defeating Lake Zurich in a non-conference game.

"We just wanted to play Sequoit basketball," said Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser.

Antioch primarily used the first half to get a feel for Lake Zurich's style of play, which is a noted good shooting club averaging eight three-pointers a game. Antioch trailed by as much as 10 in the first half and entered the locker room at half time with a 31-27 deficit.

"After the 10-point lead, we kind of chipped away and cut the lead to four, so we felt good going into half time," Dresser said.

For Lake Zurich, the Bears contained Antioch's standout center Eric Eckenstahler, who has been averaging more than 20 points a game. Eckenstahler got into early foul trouble and was held to 2 points in the contest.

"We executed our game plan in the first half. We went right out at him (Eckenstahler) and attacked him," said Lake Zurich Coach John Zarr.

Dresser added, "At least we will know what to expect next time, and he (Eckenstahler) will, too."

Both teams came out tight to open the second half. Both teams had difficulty scoring, but Antioch reduced the lead to a 1-point margin after three quarters of play. The Sequoits, however, were able to put together a 22-0 scoring drive between the final two quarters to capture the lead and seal the victory.

"In the fourth quarter we turned up our defense," Dresser said. "We were able to score on our transitions off of our steals and recoveries." He credited the strong play from his five guards for the turn around and for causing 18 turnovers.

Adam Becker led the scoring with 12 points. Eric Campbell stepped up with 11 points, while Kevin Geraghty and Mike Tschanz added 10 and 9 points a piece from the guard position. Justin McRae also contributed with 4 points.

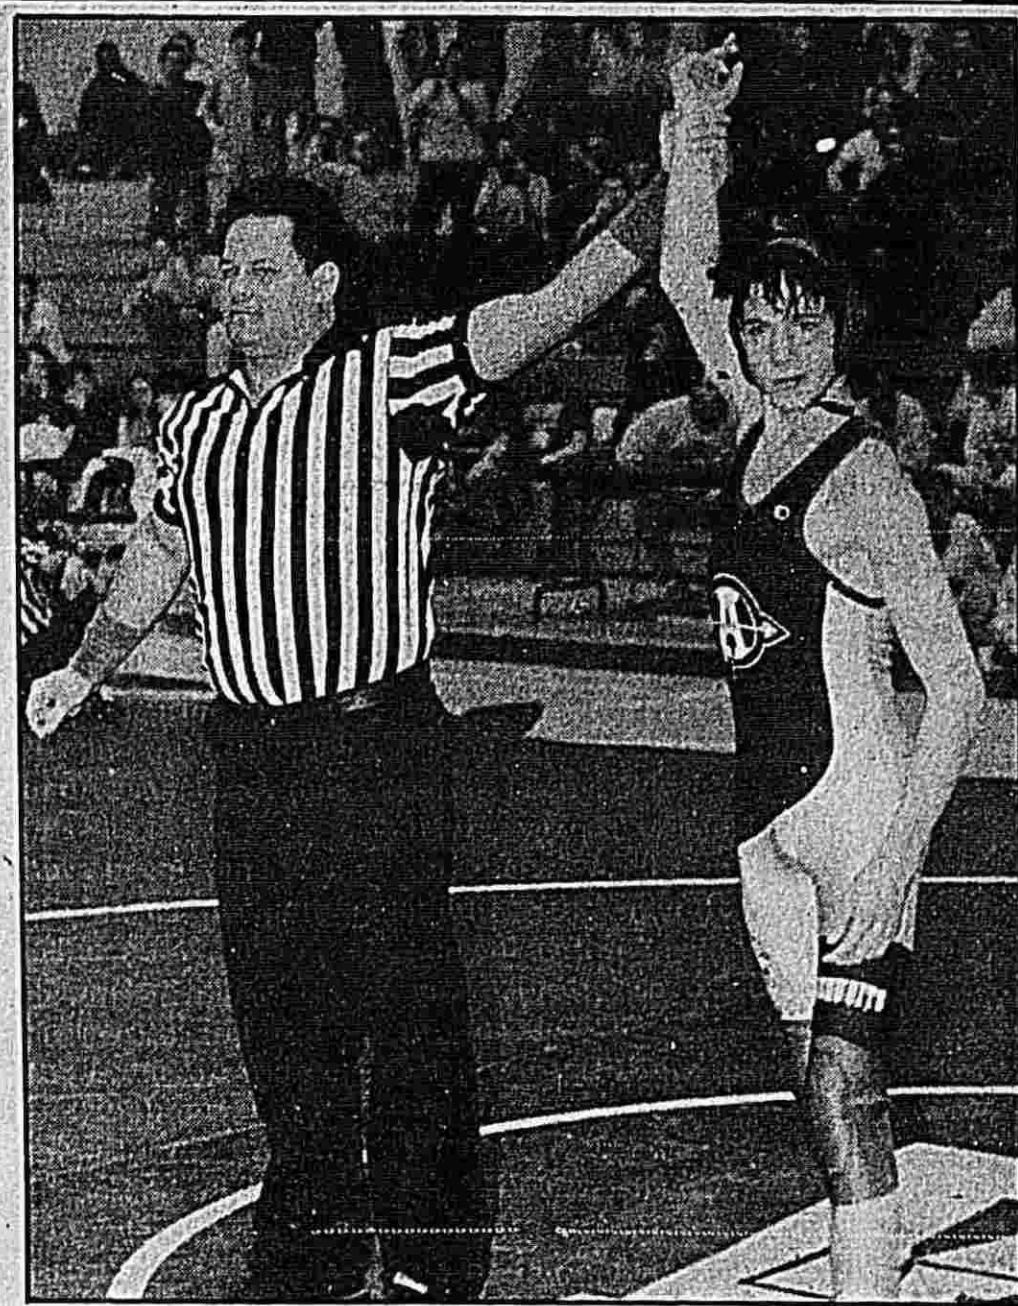

Down the stretch, the Sequoits also connected on 8 out of 11 freethrows, with Tschanz making all five his attempts.

As for Lake Zurich (12-8, 8-3), Zarr said his team was able to get a taste of Antioch's home court in preparation for the regional rematch.

"It was an opportunity to play in their gym, under their lights and to get a feel of their team," Zarr said.

Dresser said the victory was a boost as the Sequoits host rival Warren Friday and travel to league-leading Mundelein Saturday.

"This built our confidence," Dresser said. "We're in a good position to play some good ball."

ACHS girls topple 'Hawks, host Rams

Antioch High will be the place to be for area girls basketball fans as the second season gets underway Feb. 13.

Antioch (10-13 overall) takes on Grayslake at 7:30 p.m. in the first round game of the Stevenson sectional. Antioch comes in as the fifth seed while Grayslake is the 12th seed.

"We have to be ready for them. They have had the same problems of inconsistency that we have had, but I have seen them play some good ball," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

Antioch downed North Chicago 55-22 Tuesday for an 8-7 NSC record. "That guaranteed us fourth place in the conference and that was one of our goals. A lot of people picked us eighth ahead of North Chicago because we are a young team, but fourth place shows the progress we have made in two years," Woods said.

Erin O'Connell led the effort against the Warhawks with 16 points. Dana Pierson had 19, Carrie Gofron 9 and Gina Miller 8.

Antioch was up 15-4 after one and 21-9 at halftime and pulled away in the second half.

Antioch completed the regular season against the state's top-ranked Stevenson team.

Antioch had downed Grayslake (8-15 overall) in the season opener. The winner takes on the Carmel-Highland Park winner in the regional final round Feb. 16.

Albino of Waukegan.

Matt Hlinak, a junior, brings 26 wins to Barrington and a second-place finish at 119. He lost to Alex Ontiveros of Waukegan 17-4.

Jason Krause pinned Grayslake's Nick Day in 2:22, gaining third at 130.

Jason Breen, a junior, gained third at 160 by injury default over Warren's Kevin Hammer.

Brian Maicke gained a second place at 171, losing to Travis Kaski of Waukegan 7-2 in the title match.

Antioch had some misses in third-place matches. Settling for fourth and out of the running for Barrington were: Jason Tripplett at 140 pounds and Jake Nathan at heavyweight.

"We had 500 kids out with the flu this week. But Warren was very steady and deserved it," Sieckowski said.

Final team scores: Waukegan 174.5; Warren 160; Antioch 146; Zion-Benton 78; Grant 67; Grayslake 66; Round Lake 42 and North Chicago, 7 points.

Grant overtakes Rams in bowling finale

After a slow first game, the Bowling Bulldogs from Grant went on to dominate Grayslake 2,299-2,014 in the season's Northwest Suburban Conference bowling finale before the sectional meet.

"(We) were down by 26 pins after game one, but unlike in recent matches, (we) stormed back to crush Grayslake," said Grant Coach Ted Johnson.

Grayslake started strong by taking the lead after the first set of games with a 764-738 advantage. But Grant countered with 813 and 635 pins in games two and three. The Rams could only manage 740 and 615 pins.

"We seem to start out good, but we do better in tournaments than in matches," said Grayslake Coach Glenn Watt.

Johnson praised sophomore Amy Heinrichson for finding the groove in the season finale by toppling 555 pins with games of 138, 220, and 197. Her 220 and 197 games were the match's highest.

Backing Heinrichson up were Cherie Blandford (489), Courtney Cowel (446), Robin Fenrich (445) and Melissa Vegas (398).

For Grayslake, the bowling standouts were Christy Seeger (428), Kristy Disch (413) and Nicki Maretti (411). Seeger bowled a 170 for Grayslake's high game.

"We picked up some wide splits. They were difficult. The girls 'Wowed' the crowd," Watt said.

At the junior varsity level, Grant also topped Grayslake, 1,958 to 1,681.

"It was a fitting finish to the season for the Bulldogs with their best overall effort at all levels," Johnson said.

Johnsburg keeps NWSC hunt alive with win

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

A frustrating man-to-man full-court pressure wore down Wauconda by early in the second quarter to allow Johnsburg to cruise to a 66-44 victory.

The victory improved Johnsburg's record to 15-4 overall and 8-3 in the Northwest Suburban Conference, keeping them a game behind league-leading Grayslake in the conference hunt.

"We're still in the conference race," said Johnsburg Coach Ed Sennett. "We had to come out and take care of business."

Both teams battled early, but Wauconda held on to the lead in the early going. Eric Peterson and Keith Smith hit three-pointers in the quarter to keep Johnsburg within reach. Wauconda led 13-12 after the first eight minutes.

Wauconda's Paul Krucek opened the second quarter with a hoop to give the Bulldogs a 15-12 lead, but it would be all Johnsburg after that point. The Skyhawks quickly answered with a 14-0 run to build a 26-15 lead. Johnsburg's full-court pressure held Wauconda to only two baskets in the second quarter.

"Our press is not much after turnovers. It's more of a nuisance," Sennett said.

Johnsburg hosts league-leading Grayslake Feb. 10 in a conference showdown.

Grant girls will challenge Warren in regional test

Grant High's girls basketball team may not have been able to say this two months ago, but they will be ready for the second season which begins Feb. 14 at Warren High.

Grant swept back-to-back games against Grayslake Monday and Tuesday to improve to 8-14 overall, 5-9 in the Northwest Suburban Conference. The Bulldogs won 60-48 and 48-37.

Katie Klein and Michelle Tennyson keyed the offense in both games. Klein scored 18 points in the first game and 21 points Tuesday. Tennyson, a sophomore, had 22 in the first game and 10 points Tuesday.

"We are peaking at the right time with a lot of effort. We are all coming together as a team," Coach Stephanie Romic said.

The team was on a mission to finish the season with a three-game winning streak in conference as it hosted Wauconda Thursday. Grayslake concluded with Marian Central, which had clinched the conference title with a 51-38 win over Johnsburg Tuesday.

"It is too bad the season did not start now because we have improved a lot. The team had not had a lot of success before and now they are feeling it," Romic said.

Chenoa Chebny led the Rams Tuesday with 11 points.

Grant led 23-15 at halftime and held on in the second half.

Grant dominated Grayslake in the first half Monday, up 28-16 at half-time. Julie Duchane led the Rams (8-15, 5-9) with 14 points.

The Bulldogs' defense was strong in Tuesday's contest.

But next is Warren, a 19-4 powerhouse which has defeated the state and then No. 1 nationally ranked Stevenson.

"We will try and match up defensively and try to contain them. We will not be afraid of them," Romic said.

Lindenhurst Stars play to 6-6 tie

The Lindenhurst Stars U-14 girls soccer team played the Park Ridge Lightning to a 6-6 tie.

The Stars had a 2-1 halftime lead. The second half had the lead change three times and with the stars leading 6-5 with less than a minute to play, only to have the score tied with 13 seconds to play.

Samie Korbal, Amie Carlberg had two goals, Mandy Fasano, Katie Gofron had one goal.

Others who played well were Amie Smit, Becky Sosnowski, Esther Scheurep, Megan Rinkenberger and Francia Lopez. The Stars record is 1-1-1.

Skiing at its peak right now

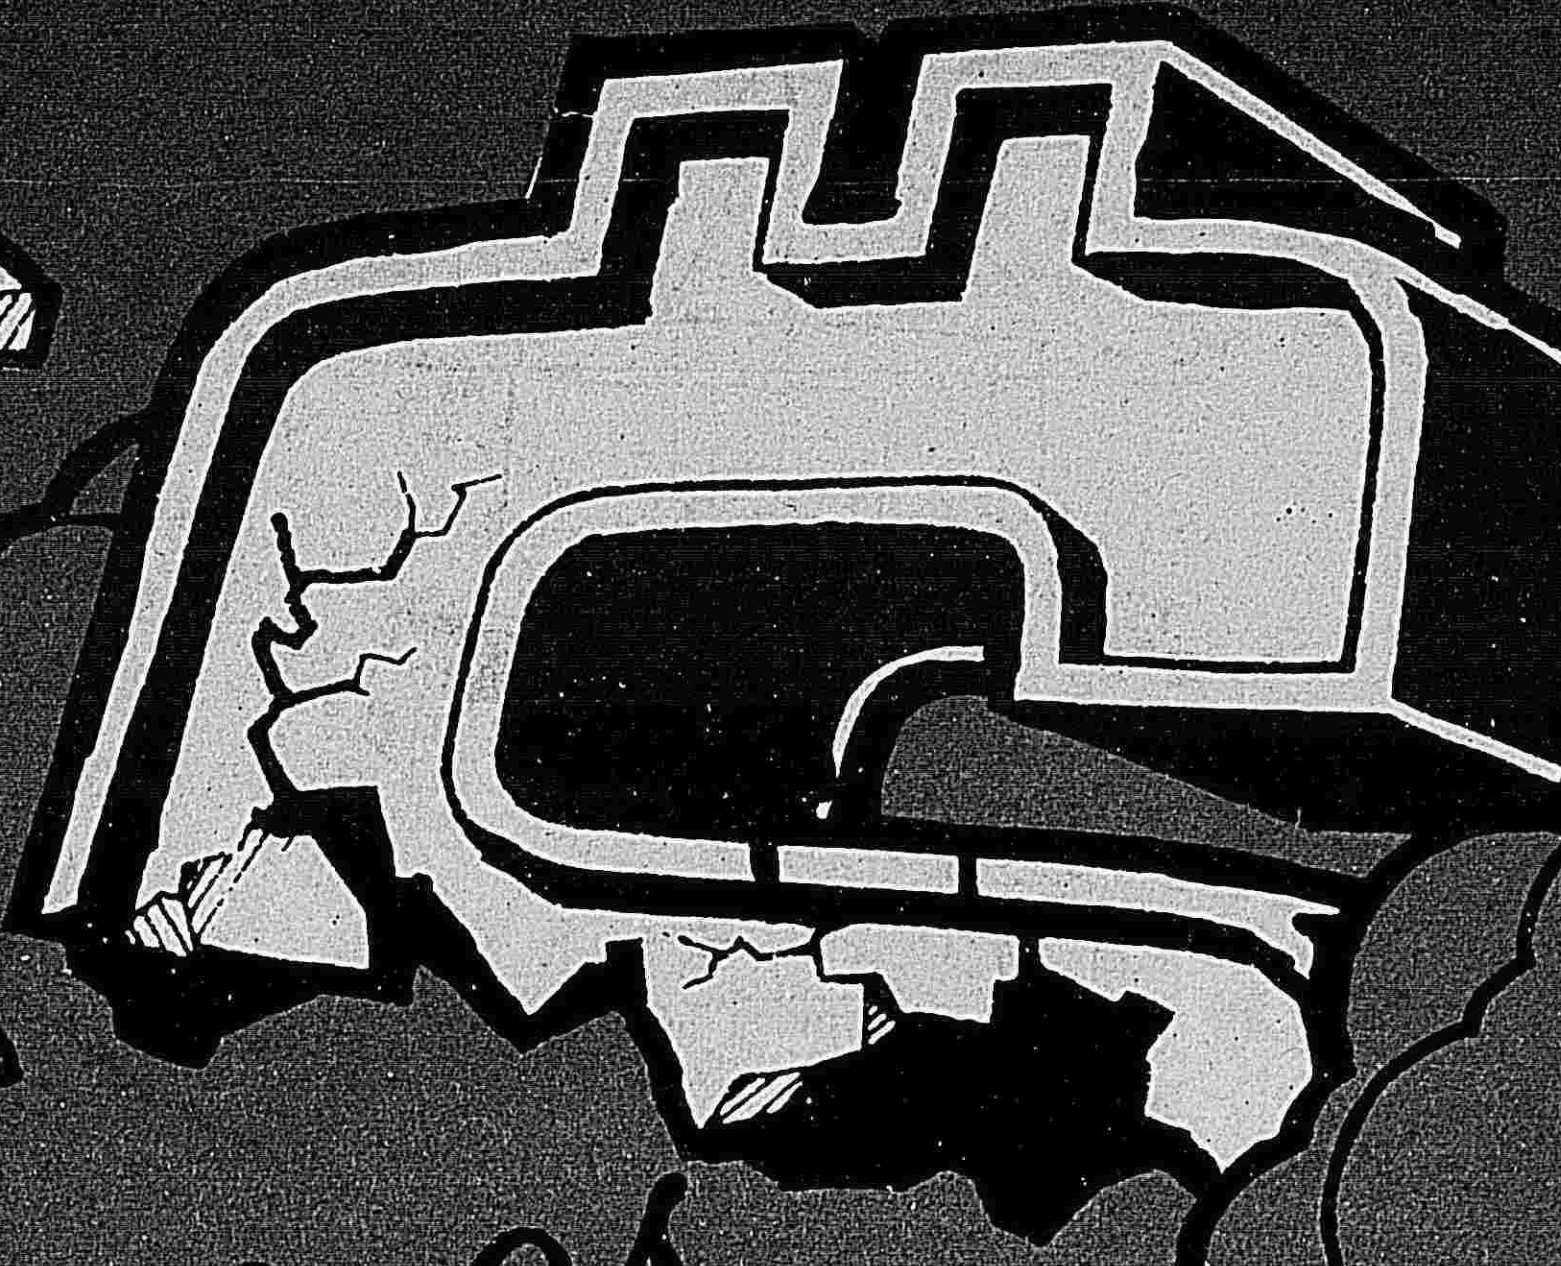

The combination of superb snow conditions, sunny skies and longer days is what veteran ski enthusiasts say is drawing them to nearby Wilmot Mountain Ski Area whenever they can break from work or other responsibilities for a few hours.

Take Bobby Immens of Fox River Grove, Ill. A former ski jumping champion and a part-time instructor at Wilmot, he has been skiing at Wilmot Mountain on his days off just for the fun of it. "I've skied all over the world, in all kind of conditions," he said. "When it gets as good as it is right now right here at Wilmot, you better believe I'll be skiing as much as possible."

Even old-timers, such as Helmut Teichner of Chicago, have been showing up to enjoy the great skiing. Said the retired director of the Wilmot Mountain Ski School, "When you've skied as many years as I have, you appreciate it all the more when that special combination of superbly groomed packed powder snow, pleasant temperatures and sunny skies come together and you make sure to take advantage of it."

Ski Area President Michael Reese, who oversees Wilmot Mountain's 450-person staff, usually just makes a few quick runs each day to insure the slopes are groomed properly. But even he has been rearranging his schedule to enjoy the excellent skiing. "It really doesn't get any better than this," he said. "Everyone is walking around the lodge with big grins on their faces. One person told me the skiing at Wilmot Mountain right now is as good as in Colorado."

Avid collector turns hobby into business

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Anyone who has ever collected anything knows how it quietly begins. You see something that interests you, make that fateful purchase and soon discover yourself enveloped in a total obsession to complete your collection, be it stamps, books, figurines or beer signs.

That's right, beer signs. Hamm's beer memorabilia collector Scott Svehla knows the habit first hand.

"I answered an ad for an older gentleman who had his collection of beer signs for sale. I kept the Hamm's falling water signs and pieced everything else out," Svehla said.

What grew from that original purchase 10 years ago was a quest to find something he had not seen before—to add another unique piece to the Hamm's pile. Like all collector's, Svehla feels elation when some new discovery is made.

When his adventure to gather every interesting Hamm's collectible in the known universe began to consume his entire being, he did what most people dream about—he began making a living out of something he truly enjoys.

"I managed a major retail drug store for 13 years and decided it was time to get out of the rat race," he said.

Getting out of the rat race included opening his own store, Scott's Brewery Collectibles on Rte. 83 in Lake Villa. The store opened in December of 1994, and has done well to date because it fills a need. Surprisingly, Svehla says there are national clubs and organizations, joined for the specific purpose of celebrating the collection of brewery memorabilia.

Svehla's 1,200 square-foot store carries thousands of licensed items from the major beer brands across the country. The shop offers collector's the opportunity to gather items with See COLLECTOR page C2

Firststar Corp. acquires First Colonial Bankshares

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

While the change won't be official until late summer, the thrill is not waning for administration at the Fox Lake State Bank.

The Milwaukee-based Firststar Corp. has closed its deal to acquire Chicago-based First Colonial Bankshares, adding 17 First Colonial Chicago-area banks to Firststar Bank Illinois, which is a newly formed subsidiary.

"I'm excited," said bank president, Ken Birchard about a merger with his First Colonial financial institution and Firststar of Milwaukee.

"Firststar is probably one of the highest-rated banks in the country. It's extremely well managed and run by investors," explained Birchard. "Fox Lake is getting a gem of a company." A n d the bank president has statistics to prove it. In the third quarter of 1994, Firststar Corp. ranked third for return on average assets in large regional banks with assets between $10 billion and $20 billion in the Chicagoland area.

Firststar also proved well in the third quarter of 1994, going up from sixth to third in the area for their return on average equity.

Some of the key factors in Firststar Illinois include 45 offices; assets of $2.8 billion noting $1.8 billion from First Colonial; and approximately 1,200 employees.

Firststar Corp. has 222 offices, with locations including Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Florida and Arizona, totaling $18 billion in assets.

Firststar chairman, Roger L. Fitzsimonds said, "The addition of First Colonial's offices in Cook, DuPage, Lake and McHenry counties will almost triple the size of Firststar's presence in the Chicago area, a growing market in one of the nation's strongest regional economies."

John B. "Jay" Williams, president of Firststar Bank Illinois will head the combined organization, which will include the Fox Lake branch, the one in Vernon Hills, and the bank in Libertyville, as well as a site in Mundelein.

"First Colonial banks already offer a strong lineup of financial products and services. This affiliation will enable them to offer even more," said Williams.

Some of the benefits customers will be offered besides added convenience of banking at any one of 45 Chicagoland locations, will also be the company's introduction within the next few months of Firststar Express bank-by-phone service, which is staffed 24-hours a day by personal bankers, so customers can initiate almost any type of banking transaction over the phone.

"This service has been tremendously popular in Wisconsin and Iowa," Williams said, noting that over 6 million calls were made to Firststar Express last year.

Birchard explained the change with his Fox Lake bank "should be relatively transparent to our customers. I think everything else basically will be the same."

The Fox Lake First Colonial president assures his customers the same, familiar faces will continue to be seen each day, even when the change comes about.

When First Colonial was chartered in Fox Lake in 1984, "It made Fox Lake State Bank a better bank. Now Firststar will make it an even better bank," said Birchard.

Fox Waterway headquarters moving

Twenty-two years ago, Ray Freeman built the Hidden Cove Marina on Pistakee Lake.

At that time, the McDonald's on Rte. 12 was a gas station, and there wasn't anything but a storage building where the marina now stands.

Later this year, the business will close its doors, and the building will re-open as the new home of the Fox Waterway Agency.

The Agency will lease the structure for their office as of April 1. Freeman said however, he has until June 1 to complete taking care of all his clients at the marina.

The first boat Freeman ever sold was a 1974 Sea Sprite. Now he's selling out his entire stock, including the pontoon boats which were always one of his biggest sellers.

Freeman said everyone is welcome to come in and make an offer on his complete inventory including new and used pontoon boats. There are several Runabouts and lots of accessories in the store to deal on, as well as a large lot of marine-type furniture.

Since last August, Freeman has been selling a different kind of item—cellular phones.

As an official Ameritech dealer, Freeman sells not only the phones, but the accessories as well. And he can order just about any kind customers are interested in purchasing.

Freeman is currently looking for a new location to house his phone business. He would like to stay situated somewhere on Rte. 12, he explained.—by TINA SWLECH out scouring the countryside. In fact, the store probably holds items collectors would most likely never see in their travels.

"With my hobby of collecting for 10 years, I've generated a lot of contacts. You don't just order this stuff out of a catalog," he said.

Those contacts are often direct to the beer vendors or factories which make their advertising merchandise. Svehia says many of the items are no longer used by the beer companies, making them even harder to find on the street and therefore more valuable.

Items he has in stock are originally earmarked to go to restaurants and bars. His main concentration is in beer signs. He says he has 70 different neon signs, priced from $100 to $400, 100 different lighted signs from $20 to $30, 50 different mirrors and 25 tin or metal signs. To a lesser degree, he also carries a number of miscellaneous items such as steins.

Two rare items in the store include a Hamm's falling water lighted sign and a Budweiser Clydesdales on parade sign. The water on the Hamm's sign actually appears to be moving and the campfire has flames flickering.

The Budweiser sign is actually a globe that turns.

As Svehia continues to see his business naturally grow, he is pleased to see others like himself make that great find of items they don't already have.

"My store is perfect for the person creating his own bar scene in the basement. The signs have also been very good as gift ideas," he said.

Scott's Brewery Collectibles is located one half mile north of Rte. 132 on Rte. 83 in Lake Villa. The phone number is 265-8907.

INVESTMENT TRENDS

Noah A. Seldenberg,
Investment Representative of Edward D. Jones & Co.

Turn $5,000 into $50,000!

Ever hear an ad like this on the radio? Sound too good to be true? It is.

What this ad refers to is buying commodities. Commodities such as heating oil, orange juice, coffee, wheat, soybeans, etc. are what are needed every day in the world. These are some basic staples of life. What you are doing when you invest in these items is really speculation. You are betting that the price of what you buy will increase before a certain date. For instance, corn comes in a 5,000 bushel contract with a March 1995 expiration date. What this means is that you own the rights to 5,000 bushels of corn. What are you going to do with 5,000 bushels of corn? Well, you never actually take delivery. What you do is take the gain or loss between when you purchase the contract and when it expires.

Is it possible to make a 10-fold return on your investment? Sure, but it is also more possible to lose the whole thing. Commodities are very leveraged, which means that if corn is trading at $2.3225 per bushel and you purchase the minimum contract (5,000), that every $0.01 movement in price is an increase or decrease of $50 for your investment.

The problem is compounded by time. When you have a definitive date by which the contract expires, you are limiting yourself in that if a price goes down, it may not have time to come back. The other problem is that the great majority of people don't know enough about what they are buying. Will there be a greater worldwide demand for coffee by August?

The other side is buying stock and having price appreciation in that stock. With a good quality stock, you don't have a limit of having to sell it before a certain time you can hold it for a day or 50 years. Obviously the longer it is held, the better the probability of making money. In addition, you can probably be sure that a few years from now companies like AT&T or Abbott Labs will still be around and making more money than they are now which will mean an increase in price, unlike that coffee in August.

The bottom line is sticking with good quality investments will yield substantial returns over time. If you like the sound of the radio ads, you might as well go to Las Vegas, at least there you will have a good time losing money.

Good Shepherd receives Level II Trauma Center

The Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) has redesignated Good Shepherd Hospital as a Level II Trauma Center.

Notification was received from Leslee Stein-Spencer, R.N., M.S., chief of the IDPH's division of emergency medical services.

In a letter addressed to Good Shepherd President Russell E. Feurer, Stein-Spencer stated that an onsite survey team found the hospital to be in compliance with the IDPH Trauma Center Code and "was confident Good Shepherd Hospital would continue to provide quality trauma care and assist in the overall coordination of the delivery of trauma patient care."

Joseph Giangrosso, M.D., medical director of emergency medical services at Good Shepherd Hospital, said, "Besides granting the trauma center redesignation, the IDPH survey team also commended the way we monitor patient care and our procedures for treating pediatric patients."

To be designated a Level II Trauma Center, a hospital must provide emergency and trauma care for persons with serious injuries 24 hours a day, seven days a week by board-certified emergency care physicians. In addition, a surgical trauma team and a complement of other specialists must be on 24-hour call and available at the hospital within 30 minutes.

"Good Shepherd Hospital has been committed to providing this type of care since the initiation of the state-wide trauma program," Witkowski continued. "This achievement is something the communities we serve can be proud of."

Dr. Giangrosso, added, "not only did we receive redesignation from the state while our ER was in the midst of a reconstruction project, but the IDPH officials were very impressed with our future plans for the emergency medicine department."

The hospital's $2.4 million emergency medicine expansion project is scheduled for completion this May. The expansion will allow the hospital to increase the scope of existing services and offer the community additional care programs.

Coping with change in a positive manner

Change happens to all of us at one time or another. Maybe it comes from a happy event, such as the birth of a baby or a long wished-for promotion. Or perhaps it comes from tragedy, such as the death of a parent or spouse or child or other loved one. Or it may come from an event that is mixed in its emotional impact, such as a move. Such is my case, at this time, as I prepare to move out of Lake Co. and back to my home state of Tennessee. Whether the cause of change is planned or unplanned, desired or undesired, change brings with it many emotions.

Even the most "happy" and desired event often brings with it an element of sadness and anxiety as well as joy. A birth, a promotion, a move, a new job all mean that life is about to change and its previous context will be lost. Relationships will shift. Comfortable patterns will be discarded. New challenges will have to be met. Gaining the new means losing the old. It is well-known that even desired changes are stressful.

Most difficult are unexpected and undesired changes, such as loss through death or tragedy. The grief that develops at such times can be very painful and feel overwhelming. It may be accompanied by physical symptoms such as changes in sleep, appetite, loss of motivation, fatigue, difficulty concentrating and crying spells.

So how can one soften the transition? What are some strategies for coping with changes?

First, regardless of the nature of the change, it is important to allow yourself to experience your full range of emotions. "Stuffing" feelings, avoiding and denying emotions simply does not work well. Emotions have a way of coming out in one form or another. Those who express their emotions are much less likely to experience problems later, such as delayed reactions.

When one is able to experience and express emotion directly, changes can become much more tolerable. The simple act of talking about feelings can play a big role in relieving tension.

At times, stress and loss may lead to the development of more serious depression. When one develops decreased self-esteem or self-recrimination, as well as the physical symptoms described above, it is likely that a depression is present. Grief alone should not lead to a drop in self-esteem. Suicidal thoughts also indicate the presence of depression rather than a grief reaction. If more serious depression is present, it is important to seek help.

Another way to cope is to work on attitude. Develop a positive attitude about change whenever possible. Any event can have many possible meanings to an individual, and interpreting an event as a challenge or an opportunity rather than a crisis can go a long way toward diminishing its stressful impact.

Every life has its moments of change and uncertainty. Change is never easy, but does not have to be a terrible experience. By keeping these periods of transition in the proper perspective, one can ride the tide of change without being overwhelmed.

This is my final column as I prepare for a move back to Tennessee to take a faculty position at East Tennessee State Univ. This column will continue, and will be written in the future by Dr. Linda Millon, the clinical director of the Women's Circle of Health. Dr. Millon is a psychologist who has been the co-program director of the adult psychiatric unit at Concell Memorial Hospital. She has much clinical experience and specializes in the treatment of eating disorders, mood disorders and women's issues at the Neuropsych group practice in Libertyville.

Thank you to Lakeland Publishers, St. Therese Medical Center, Concell Memorial Hospital and the community of Lake County for the privilege of serving here for the last seven years.

Editor's note: Merry Miller, M.D. is a board certified psychiatrist and is the director of The Women's Circle of Health in conjunction with Neuropsych in Libertyville (367-1029). She is also on staff at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan and Concell Medical Center in Libertyville.

LAKE COUNTY

Now is the Time... To Make a Difference

Recently, a report came across my desk entitled "The Nation's Number One Health Problem—Key Indicators for Policy". The report was prepared by the Institute for Health Policy at Brandeis University and funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The report is filled with statistics that demonstrate the cost and impact of substance abuse on our nation. The data is alarming and should impress policy makers, media and the nation as a whole to mobilize against substance abuse and the violence associated with its use and abuse. Note the following:

- In the U.S. there are a half million substance abuse deaths yearly.
- Every man, woman and child in America pays nearly $1,000 annually to cover the costs of unnecessary health care, extra law enforcement, auto accidents, crime and lost productivity resulting from substance abuse.
- By age 18, more than 1 in 5 American children have used drugs.
- An estimated 1.7 million American teenagers need drug abuse treatment.

I am reminded that Mark Twain once said there are three kinds of lies: "Lies, damn lies and statistics." Not always true, Mr. Twain. What makes a statistic appear to be a lie is the numbing effect. When we say to policy makers that 1.7 million American teenagers need drug abuse treatment, it can sound so terribly numbing that it distorts reality. It just seems overwhelming. Yet, many have seen the teenager's face that wanted but could not afford or could not receive treatment.

In reviewing data recently with an area reporter seeking information about people's fear of violence, she said to me "Excuse me, you don't understand, this story is not about drugs, it is about violence." I responded to that statement by arguing, "I do understand, but what you and others are not communicating is that alcohol and other drugs are fundamentally at the root of violence and crime within our country. You do an injustice to the truth when you attempt to separate these issues." She politely thanked me and informed me that if she needed more information she would call back.

Partners in the Lake County FIGHTING BACK Project are involved in the partnership because they believe individuals can make a difference. If we are to capture the attention of policy makers, media and the nation with the message of the ravages associated with substance abuse, we must take the data that often appears numbing and put a human face to it.

How many more young people will we lose before our nation's attention turns to solving this issue? Be it drug-free schools, treatment or prevention, this nation cannot afford to walk away from this challenge. We can solve this problem if we decide to solve it. Now is the time to insist that your congressional and state legislative delegations provide leadership. Now is the time that you should mobilize your neighborhoods and schools to save one child at a time. Quickly 1.7 million teenagers needing treatment becomes 1,699,999 and then 1,699,998, etc. Community partnerships are what this nation is about. We are the nation, and we represent millions of individuals who can effect change if armed with the necessary information and will to produce change.

If you would like to see other issues addressed, or have questions or comments, please call the FIGHTING BACK office at (708) 546-7144.

OELKE

The Oelke, because of its simple and classic design, could be "at home" in a wide variety of environments. It provides a lot of home for the building dollar by taking advantage of efficient building techniques, and without wasting any square footage.

This house plan offers many benefits for a growing family with small children. The arrangement allows parents a certain amount of privacy, while still being near enough to keep tabs on the kids. The long hallway has two nearly identical bedrooms on one side, each is roomy and has plenty of closet space. Across the hall is the large master bedroom, featuring a spacious walk-in closet. Large windows are in all three bedrooms, and they share linen storage and a full bathroom located off the hall.

The sizeable living room is the hub of this home. Here the family can gather to watch television, play the latest board game, or just enjoy sharing the events of the day.

The U-shaped kitchen and the dining area are perhaps the most inviting parts of this comfortable home, and are open to each other.

The kitchen offers built-in appliances, lots of storage, a roomy work area, and a garden window to enjoy the view. Meals can be prepared and served without a lot of fuss.

The compact floor plan of the Oelke concludes with a handy utility room that has a sink and houses the washer and dryer.

For a study kit of the OELKE (403-29), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Easing Your Tax Burden

How the 1994 changes can effect your taxes

It's that time of year again! We start taking down the holiday decorations. We make our new year's resolutions. We try to lose those extra pounds. And we start thinking about...taxes!

This is the first of my weekly columns on "Easing Your Tax Burden." Between now and April 17, this year's filing deadline, I will be talking about a variety of topics which will effect your taxes this year. Along the way, I'll be sharing some helpful hints which hopefully will ease the anxiety many of you face when you prepare your tax return.

By now you should have received your tax packages in the mail. I encourage you to briefly look it over now so you are familiar with the tax law changes for 1994 that could make a difference on the bottom line of your tax return.

For those of you who work and have qualifying children, the earned income tax credit amount will increase. The amount a person can earn and still be eligible for the credit will increase, too. The earned income tax credit also expands to include people who work but don't have any qualifying children. You can file for the credit using Form 1040EZ. However, if you have qualifying children, you must either use Form 1040 or 1040A.

Beginning in 1994, if you make a charitable contribution of $250 or more in a single payment, you must get written documentation from the charity before you can deduct it. Also, if you give a charity payment over $75 that is partly a contribution and partly for goods or services, that charity must give you a written statement, giving the value of the goods or services and stating that only the amount over that value is tax deductible.

Also in 1994, Social Security and equivalent tier 1 railroad retirement benefits may be taxed at a higher rate. Some people may continue to include up to 50 percent of their benefits in taxable income, while others may have to include up to 85 percent. Whether the new 85 percent rate applies to you depends on your income.

Some work-related moving expenses are no longer deductible. They include meals while moving from the old to new home; travel expenses, meals and lodging for pre-move house hunting trips; meals and lodging while staying in temporary quarters near the new job; and qualified home sale, purchase and lease expenses. Also, to deduct allowable moving expenses, your new main job location must be at least 50 miles farther from the former home than the old main job location. This changed from 35 miles.

Also, moving expenses will no longer be an itemized deduction. You will be able to deduct these expenses in figuring your adjusted gross income. And you can only deduct the expenses that are not reimbursed by your employer. Employer reimbursements are not included in income.

The standard mileage rate for the cost of using your car for business miles is up a penny to 29 cents per mile. And for business travel away from home, you can no longer deduct the travel expenses paid for someone accompanying you, such as your spouse, unless that person is your employee, has a specific business purpose for the travel, and would otherwise be allowed to deduct the travel expenses.

Starting in 1994, you can deduct only 50 percent of the cost of business meals and entertainment expenses. Also, there is no longer a deduction for dues and fees for memberships in clubs; however, you can still deduct specific business expenses, such as meals, that are spent at a club if the expenses meet certain requirements.

Recently enacted law changes mean that many household employers will no longer have to report employment taxes for their household employees to the IRS. The quarterly filing and payment requirements have been eliminated, and the $50 per quarter threshold has been raised to $1,000 per year, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1994.

I will be touching on many of these areas in greater detail in future columns. For more information on tax changes, call 1-800-829-3676 and get free Publication 553, "Highlights of 1994 Tax Changes."—by MARILYN DAY, district director, Internal Revenue Service, Chicago District

Bulldogs, Rams get nod in NWSC; Warren, Antioch will thrill in NSC

Round Lake at Grant

Date: Feb. 10 Time: 7 p.m.
Team records: Grant 7-4, 10-11; Round Lake 5-7, 9-12.

Key players: Round Lake's Mike Allen, Ray Muellemann; Grant's Mike Nelson, Dave Stone.

Keys to game: another game between rivals now out of the running in the Northwest Suburban. Key will be Grant's ability to hit short shots and rebound, something the Bulldogs have had problems with.

Prediction: Grant by 1.

Grayslake at Johnsbury

Date: Feb. 10 Time: 7 p.m.
Team records: Grayslake 9-2, 15-6; Johnsbury 8-3, 13-6.

Key players: Grayslake's Dave Mendralla, Pete Neuberger, health of John Parr. Johnsbury's Eric Peterson and Jason Miller.

Keys to game: Pending Johnsbury's clash with Marian Central, this game should match first and second-place teams. Key will be Parr's health, he suffered a severely sprained ankle and missed a win over Round Lake. Johnsbury's pressure defense and outside shooting of Miller and Peterson, who have combined for 43 three-pointers.

Prediction: Grayslake by 3.

Warren at Antioch

Date: Feb. 10 Time: 7:30 p.m.
Team Records: Warren 9-3, 15-6; Antioch 4-8, 10-10.

Key Players: Warren's Joe Bongratz, Joel Dangel and Maurice Foster. Antioch's Eric and Kevin Eckenstahler, and Eric Campbell.

Keys to game: Warren won fairly handily in the first meeting. Keys will be Dangel's outside shooting and if Foster can penetrate through Antioch's big men in the paint. Bongratz could be a force on the inside. Improving Antioch will be determined to defeat an over .500 team at home. With both Eckenstahlers and reserves Dan Riepe and Dave Lawrence, Antioch could win the battle of the boards. Kevin Geraghty and Eric Campbell can complement inside game with their outside touch.

Prediction: Last-minute freethrows will determine outcome. Home team by 2.

Stevenson at Warren

Date: Feb. 11 Time: 7:30 p.m.

Team records: Stevenson 5-7, 8-14; Warren 9-3, 15-6;

Key players: Stevenson's Peter Ferguson, Tyler Hawkins and Ryan Pohlmann. Warren's Joel Dangel, Maurice Foster and Joe Bongratz.

Keys to game: Ferguson always manages to garner his 20-plus points a game regardless of what team Stevenson puts on the floor on a given night. If Pohlmann can stay out of early foul trouble, he could be a force on the inside. Between Bongratz's inside game and Foster's slashing moves through the lane, they could put away Pohlmann early and control the game.

Prediction: Warren by 8.

Antioch at Mundelein

Date: Feb. 11 Time: 7:30 p.m.
Team records: Mundelein 11-

2, 18-4; Antioch 4-8, 10-10.

Key players: Mundelein's Sean Stackhouse, Brian McMahon, Ivan Hourritnier, and Dave Bumblis. Antioch's Eckenstahler brothers and Kevin Geraghty.

Keys to game: Mundelein won the last match by a bucket. The Mustangs have many weapons. If Stackhouse is not driving the lane, he's shooting from three-point range. McMahon gives Mundelein the turn-around jumper on the inside and Hourritnier was the hero late in the last game. Antioch must find their match-ups early. Eric Eckenstahler did the best job against McMahon, but needs to score more than 12 points.

Prediction: Mundelein by 6.

Ice fishing derby set Feb. 12 on Deep Lake

Deep Lake Improvement Association will be holding its fourth annual "Groundhog Ice Fishing Derby" Feb. 12 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

With a $5 entry donation anglers can catch more than $2000 worth of tagged fish, including bluegills, crappies, largemouth bass and northern pike.

There will be food and hourly prize drawings, including a color television, a Sunbeam gas grill, a Motorola flip phone and a Nikon power binocular. There will also be prizes for the largest fish, smallest fish and largest pan fish.

Fishing holes will be augered free, and bait is available on the ice. Registration is at the beach on Ave., west of Deep Lake Road in Lake Villa.

'Master Angler' throws back prize-winning fish

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Although he has been dubbed a Master Angler, Ron Nelson, you might say, is a fish's fisherman.

Like many fathers, Nelson enjoys taking his son out onto a lake and passing on the skills and finer qualities about fishing that Nelson's grandfather had taught him when he was a kid. Through the ages, fishing has become the ultimate father-son escape.

"He'd rather catch than fish," Nelson said of his 8-year-old son. "But I try to teach him as the old saying goes: 'You go fishing. You don't go catching.'"

Nelson, who lives in Lake Zurich, achieved "Master Angler" status through a Wisconsin-based company that produces Mepps lures and spinners. He earned trophy awards for four different prize-winning fish he netted, including a 5 pound 4 ounce largemouth bass, a 2 pound 8 ounce smallmouth bass, a 7 pound northern pike and a 27 pound carp.

Despite his fishing success and unlike other serious sportsmen or fishermen, you will not find his prize catches mounted on a wall or stuffed for view in a trophy case. Nelson throws his fish back.

"I'm proud of the fish I caught, but those are for fishing stories," Nelson said. "I take their picture and then throw them back. Fishing is something I enjoy."

Nelson fishes regularly, for he has a cottage in Door County fronting Green Bay, where he escapes for long weekends. Locally, his favorite fishing hole is Diamond Lake in Mundelein, where he grew up and where he caught his prize-winning large-mouth bass. (But he won't reveal his secret fishing spot on the lake.)

Since Nelson could be frequently found spending his free time on a lake with a line cast into the water, he decided to team up with Mepps, try some of their lures and see if they were worth the effort. He caught his winning fish on a variety of Mepps lures and is now one of a little more than 100 anglers nationwide to be named a "Mepps Master Angler."

He attests that the lures do work, but so do other forms of bait. He also maintains its more the man behind the pole than the bait at the end of a line that catches more fish.

"The main thing is to know where the fish can be, try different spots and then move on," Nelson said. "A worm and bobber is the easiest way, but there are times during the year when the fish want to attack the bait and a lure works."

He added, "You have to know when to hook the fish."

With the help of his grandfather, Nelson grew up learning the ways of anglers and hunters in northern Wisconsin and Canada.

"I'm not a fishing geek," the 35-year-old said, "although I love fishing and the great outdoors."

The keys to a successful angler are patience and "your wife letting you have time to go out and fish," Nelson joked.

Now, Nelson is sharing his fishing skills with his son but he also wants his son to appreciate nature at the same time.

"I tell my son to throw them back because then they get bigger," Nelson said.

He also hopes the serious outdoors man follows the same catch-and-release advice, "so the fish are here for our kids."

Ron Nelson displays the 5 pound 4 ounce largemouth bass he caught in his favorite fishing hole, Diamond Lake.

Bears look to move out of Lake Forest, Soldier's Field

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The Chicago Bears may be looking for immediate help at the running back, linebacker and defensive line positions next year, but down the road the organization is looking to relocate its Lake Forest training facility and possibly move out of Soldier's Field.

Chicago Bears center Jerry Fontenot and player liaison and operations assistant Brian McCaskey were on hand at Midlane Country Club during a power breakfast sponsored by the Lake County Chamber of Commerce to share their thoughts on the future of the Chicago Bears team and its organization.

McCaskey reported that the organization is currently pursuing other locations for its training facility in Lake Forest. The Bears have been there since 1979, but McCaskey said the number of employees have grown from 40 to 75 non-player personnel. Separate computer and skybox staffs have been created to meet growing needs in the organization.

"It's out-served its usefulness," McCaskey said. He added, "I can tell you with confidence that I think we will stay in Lake County." He did not disclose other potential training facility sites.

In addition, the lease agreement with the Chicago Park District, which owns Soldier's Field, is nearing its termination, and McCaskey said the organization is considering whether to build another stadium in Chicago.

"Soldier's Field is not what it used to be," McCaskey said. He did note that the Bears will try to remain within the city and not move out to the suburbs like many NFL teams have done.

"We would definitely like to stay in Chicago if we can," McCaskey said. "We are the Chicago Bears."

As far as building next year's team and moving further in the playoffs, McCaskey said the team will be looking at free agency and the college draft to improve the running back position, the linebacking corps and the defensive line.

He also said the Bears are hoping to keep quarterback Erik Kramer and sign quarterback Steve Walsh, whose contract ends this year.

"We want to bring them both into camp and let them battle it out," McCaskey said.

Although both McCaskey and Fontenot said the Bears may have exceeded expectations last year with two playoff appearances, Fontenot said the Bears will have a lot of good things to look forward to next year as well.

"It seemed like at times that we were on an upswing," said Fontenot as he reflected on last year's up and down 9-7 regular season (10-8 including playoff record). "Whenever we lost, we did it right," he joked.

Although Chicago had difficulty with its own Central Division teams, Fontenot insists the Bears will be the team to beat in the Central Division next season.

"The game of the year is going to be next year up in Platteville with the Blue and White game," Fontenot said.

Bears meet needs besides football

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Besides building teams to battle it out on the gridiron on Sunday afternoons, NFL organizations do a lot more than what sports enthusiasts read in Monday morning papers. And the Chicago Bears are no exception.

Brian McCaskey, player liaison and operations assistant with the Chicago Bears, and center Jerry Fontenot joined Lake County business leaders for a power breakfast at Midlane County Club. Sponsored by the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, the breakfast generally focused on the Bears in review and in preview.

McCaskey shared the organization's behind-the-scenes work it does to promote and foster the players' lives after they walk off the football field. As the team's operations assistant, McCaskey helps with a variety of programs.

For example, the Family Assistance Program helps new players and their families find a place to live and gives them a list of services offered in the area, such as banks. It also provides counseling for players experiencing drug or marital problems.

In the Financial Education Program, the organization provides courses on money management.

The average salary for an NFL player is $500,000 a year.

"These young men now have a lot of money," McCaskey said. "We're trying to teach these young guys how to manage their money for the long term."

The Chicago Bears also have a Degree Completion Program for those players who did not finish their college education. Approximately 29 percent of the players in the NFL have a college degree, but McCaskey boasted that about 40 percent of the Bears have degrees. The average career span for a player is approximately five to six years.

"We have a system in place where we encourage players to go back to school and finish their degrees," McCaskey said. The program is also offered to the players' spouses as well.

Finally, the Chicago Bears organization also has an internship program for its players. Personnel seek out businesses willing to offer internships to players during the off season between February and June.

Despite popular belief, there's a little more that goes on within the Chicago Bears organization than football training, practice and games.

Stevenson leads girls as tourney begins

The second season begins next week as girls basketball teams shoot for a bid to the state finals in Normal.

Stevenson, 24-2, leads the way as the state's top-ranked team. The Pats are the top seed in their own sectional and will open against No. 16 North Chicago at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 in Lincolnshire.

After losing to Warren 49-39 with Tauja and Tamika Catchings attending their grandfather's funeral, Stevenson was at full strength in a 81-30 win over Zion. Tauja had 20 points and Tamika had 16 and Katie Coleman 19 as Stevenson romped.

Other games with 7:30 p.m. starts Feb. 13 pit No. 9 Lake Forest at No. 8 Deerfield; No. 13 Highland Park at No. 4 Carmel and No. 12 Grayslake at No. 5 Antioch. The last two games are rematches, with Carmel and Antioch winning earlier contests.

Other first-round games will be played Feb. 14, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Libertyville, the No. 2 seed, hosts winless No. 15 Round Lake; No. 7 Zion-Benton hosts No. 10 Lake Zurich; No. 3 Warren (18-4) hosts No. 14 Grant and No. 11 Mundelein is at No. 6 Waukegan.

Regional finals are Feb. 16 at the highest seeded team. Sectional semis are Feb. 20 with the final Feb. 23 at Stevenson High.

Super-sectional games have not been too kind to Class AA teams from the area. Warren was the last team to win one, in 1988.

Lancers rally past Wabonsee, poor second half proves fatal

A furious comeback and a strong first half were highlights for College of Lake County men's basketball team.

The Lancers came away with a split to show for their efforts, downing Wabonsee but losing to Milwaukee Area Technical College.

CLC trailed by as many as 12 points at Wabonsee but won 69-62 to improve to 3-4 in the Skyway Conference.

"We just made a couple of steals and got momentum. We got fired up and played super. Kelan Williams led us during the stretch," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

Justin Hanlin, a Warren Township High grad, had 20 points to lead the effort. "He players good most of the time," Smith said.

Kelan Williams finished with 16 points, Ramsey Williams had 10 and Kurt Filiatreault had 8.

The momentum carried over to the first half at MATC. CLC led 52-39 but then the bottom fell out as the home team dominated the second half and won 92-76.

"They buried us in the second half. We were tired - it was our sixth game in two weeks," Smith said.

Manuel Stutts led a balanced attack with 13 points as did Kelan Williams. Hanlin had 12 and Robert Kindle and Mike Rudd had 10 each.

CLC (10-15 overall) closes Skyway play by hosting McHenry at 7:15 p.m. Feb. 14. CLC was hoping to catch third-place Morton.

Haag gains two victories, CLC wrestlers ready for regional Chris Haag won two of three matches and Mark Schweiss won for College of Lake County's wrestling team.

The Lancers are preparing for the Feb. 11 regional tourney at Harper College in Palatine.

Haag, an Antioch grad, will be at 190 for regional. Haag wrestled at heavyweight through matches at Muskegon, Mich. Saturday.

"It will be interesting to see if he will be able to use speed and techniques. He is a capable, but it will be a tough road to haul," CLC Coach Stan Pasiewicz said of Haag.

The 190-pound weight class is led by Demarco Suggs of Lincoln and a Harper wrestler.

"It is a matter of confidence and countering and not giving up points," Pasiewicz said.

Haag's wins came by pin and decision.

CLC was no match in the team scores. The Lancers lost to Muskegon No. 1 30-9 and a second Muskegon team 52-6 and 32-6 to Triton at Muskegon, Mich.

Schweiss, a Grant High grad, had a win at 158 pounds. He and Mike Gonzalez are the most improved wrestlers, Pasiewicz said.

Justin Zdeb, a Round Lake grad and Steve Fuller of Mundelein will fill out the CLC lineup at Harper.

"We can put it all together - most of it is mental," Pasiewicz said.

Wegener leads Carmel as outside shots key win

Although it has been a frustrating season, Carmel High's basketball team always had an ability to shoot three-pointers against a zone.

The Corsairs did just that in exciting fashion Saturday night as Carmel outlasted Marian Central Catholic 76-74 in a triple overtime thriller.

"For four quarters and three overtimes, it was our best effort of the year," Coach Ben Berg said.

Keying that effort was senior Jason Wegener. He canned three of Carmel's 7 three-pointers, including one to force a third overtime.

Chris Carroll, another senior, hit a trey with five seconds left in regulation to force the first session.

The third overtime boiled down to free-throw shooting. Dan Graham (10 points) and Wegener led the effort at the charity stripe as Carmel won the stanza 10-8.

"We are a pretty decent free-throw shooting team. We shoot 65 to 70 percent," Berg said.

Jason will thrive against the zone. He is a good spot-up three-point shooter and very effective as is Carroll (12 points) and Bill Koch. It is different against a man-to-man," Berg said.

So Carmel left Chicago Heights with its well-earned third win, 3-16 overall, 3-6 ESCC and moved ahead of the Marian Central Catholic in league standings. The win also broke a four-game losing streak.

Friday's game was more frustration for Carmel as the Corsairs were dominated early by Joliet Catholic and lost 71-56.

"We dug ourselves a hole and we were down in the high teens. We cut it to 13 at halftime and 10 in the fourth quarter, but we cannot have bad quarters. We are not that good a team to comeback," Berg said.

Mike Graham, a junior, had 17 points and Ruben Rivera had 11 for Carmel.

Carmel hits the road again this weekend - at St. Viator Feb. 10 and at St. Patrick Feb. 11 in ESCC play.

The Corsairs received the 16th and last seed for the upcoming Waukegan sectional. Exact pairings have yet to be announced, but Carmel expects to play top seed Mundelein in round one Feb. 28 or March 1.

"I told the kids I expected the last seed because we only had two wins. It will be a challenge for us. The kids will be fired up to play the school down the street," Berg said.

Welters seeks funds, clues about Jim's disappearance

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Nine years have passed, and the Welter family is still waiting for Jimmy to come home.

Steve Welter is organizing a fund-raiser as the family searches for a closure to the disappearance of Jim Welter, a former state wrestling champ at Grant High School.

"We want to hire a private investigator to tie up the loose ends," Steve said.

The cost is a minimum of $5,000 and a fund has been established at Fox Lake State Bank.

Jim Welter was last seen by his roommate at Kessler Air Force Base on Jan. 3, 1986 in Biloxi, Miss. His car was found six months later but nothing had been touched in his accounts and none of his personal belongings were missing.

The Air Force investigated, but nothing was ever found.

"Wrestling was a big thing for Jim. He was state champ, was a junior college national champion at College of Lake County, and wrestled against the Russians at McGaw Hall," Steve recalled.

"He just loved wrestling," Pat, Jim's brother, said.

Jim was a sergeant at the time of his disappearance. A frequent writer of letters home, he was looking forward to new training.

"We are looking for some closure. People disappear, but not for nine years without any trace," Steve said. Jim was one of 10 children of Bill and Jean Welter and also enjoyed baseball as a Fox Lake youth.

Steve and his sister, Kate, have been investigating from time to time but have come up empty, hence the decision to hire a private investigator. Kate had written to Congress and worked with Lake County detectives.

The family received help from Dr. Russ Schneider of Gurnee. A dentist and former state wrestling champ, Schneider checked the national computer listing of dental records but did not find anything conclusive.

Jim won the 98 pound weight class state title as a senior, capping off a career which included three straight Northwest Suburban Conference titles and two regional and one district title.

"He was very quiet. He was serious-minded and dedicated," Fred Loffredo, who coached all six Welter brothers, said of Jim.

"He followed in the footsteps of his brother Steve, who had won a state title. It was a natural," Loffredo said.

Jim was inducted into the CLC Hall of Fame in December.

"He came over to the house right before he disappeared. It appeared he was on the same track, focused on his new training," Loffredo said.

To contribute to the fund, call Steve Welter at (815) 344-0202, Loffredo at 740-9010, Pat Welter at 587-5911 or Tom Murray at 587-0400.

CLC Lady Lancers lose to two foes

The results may have been the same, but College of Lake County women's basketball team made two foes earn wins last week.

The Lancers lost to Waubesa 68-56 in Skyway Conference play and 63-51 to Milwaukee Area Technical College.

"Numbers and illnesses caught up with us," CLC Coach Don Zeman said of the MATC game.

Lisa Sinnokrak, a Warren High grad, scored 20 points and Nicole Pollard scored 13.

"We cut an 18 point lead to 6 with eight minutes to go, but we ran out of gas and our poor shooting continued," Zeman said. MATC led by 11 at halftime.

The defense was there in both games.

"Thursday we had a very good effort. We had good patience and shot the ball the best we have done all year, 23-of-46," Zeman said.

Four Lancers scored in double figures. CLC trailed by eight at halftime. Pollard, a Round Lake High grad, had 16 points while Sinnokrak had 12, Kim Rowe and Ria Cruz had 10 each.

CLC, 3-16 overall and 0-6 in the Skyway, hosted Oakton Feb. 9 before facing McHenry Feb. 14 in the home season finale in Grayslake.

Raffle to benefit Welter fund

Organizers of the Jimmy Welter Search Fund will hold a raffle at Kross Inn on Grand Ave. in Ingleside on Saturday, Feb. 25.
